GREEN OPPOSES COALITION PLAN FOR COURT VOTE

Tells G. O. P.: Spurn Kelly and Nash.

Gov. Green announced unqualified opposition yesterday to any attempt to submit a coalition slate of Republicans and Democrats to the voters in the election of 21 Superior court judges and two Municipal court judges Nov. 4.

In a speech delivered at the annual Labor day picnic under the auspices of the Cook county Republican central committee at Riverview park, the governor said that Republicanism, now on the upsurge, must not compromise its principles by any tieup with the Kelly-Nash machine.

Before touching on the judicial election, the governor repeated the stand he has taken on national rearmament, urging concerted action by industry, agriculture, and labor not only for military defense but also for internal solidarity and invincible nationalism. He took up the subject of coalition just before closing his 15 minute talk.

"Must Fight Evils."

"We must be sure," he said, "that we do not forsake a single principle of clean leadership, clean elections, and clean administration. We have declared against the corruption of political machines, and we must fight against the evils of boss rule.

"Cook county has suffered domination of political machines for years. Last November men and women who had wearied of gang politics soundly whipped the Kelly-Nash machine, and we cannot ignore the avalanche of votes with which they spoke.

"There has grown up in Cook county and Chicago what is known as the coalition election of judges. Under this practice the Republican and Democratic conventions have agreed between them on a single slate of candidates. People have lost interest in the judiciary because they have had no voice in selecting those who, in their opinion, were best qualified by knowledge of law, impartiality, integrity, and courage.

Parties Meet Soon.

"Both major political parties will meet in county conventions soon to select candidates for the Superior and Municipal courts. Each can name a complete and independent slate, or both can deny the voters the right of making a free choice of whom shall administer justice in the courts.

"As a Republican—pledged myself to a ceaseless battle against bossed elections—I am opposed to coalition.

"Sitting judges, whose records are above reproach, should not fear presenting their names on either one of two independent party ballots. Their boast of well won victory should be that they were returned to office by a majority of the electorate. Their greatest pride should be that they have helped to force political machines further toward oblivion.

"Hour of Opportunity."

"The Republican party stands at the hour of its greatest opportunity. It will be in the degree to which the Republican party conducts free and representative government that it will hold the faith of those who have rebelled against misrule by political machines."

Gov. Green's declaration was interpreted as a sure indication that Cook county Republicans will repudiate the coalition principle and offer an independent slate of candidates, inasmuch as the governor incorporated his statement in his speech after conferring with local party leaders.

Senator Wayland Brooks, who shared prominence at the meeting with the governor, was enthusiastically applauded when he pointed out that the very day that Marshal Petain announced that there would be only one legal political party in France, A. B. [Happy] Chandler, New Deal senator from Kentucky, was declaring at St. Charles, Ill., that it was time to stop debate in America.

Calls It Significant.

"It is significant," said Senator Brooks "that these came on the same day.

"If ever there was a time to keep debate open, that time is now. There will be debate when we settle whether we shall send our boys to die on foreign shores.

"As long as I have a voice I shall protest against sending our boys to die in Russia or on any other foreign soil."

Iranians Angry as Reds Bomb Teheran Again

BY E. R. NODERER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TEHERAN, Iran [Persia], Sept. 1—The Iranian public today was both indignant and bewildered following yesterday's bombing of Teheran by Russian planes. The explosives killed at least two persons and injured an undetermined number of others.

The raid, the second in 24 hours, came four days after Iran laid down its arms and while the Iranian government was considering armistice terms which were presented by the British and Russians Saturday night.

Red planes dropped seven bombs at 9 a. m., two of them falling into an open field about a mile from the military airport of Ghali Morghi. The others were dropped in a southern working class area where the casualties occurred.

Finds Bomb Fragments.

Craters nine feet wide and five feet deep in the hard ground of the open field were viewed by Col. Francis Tompkins, United States military attaché. From one of the planes fluttered leaflets pledging Russia's undying friendship for Iran, and stating that the Reds want only to expel the Germans and have no designs on Iran.

Later in the morning nine soviet twin engine bombers flew over the capital dropping leaflets printed in French, Irani, and English. The leaflets read the same as those dropped earlier.

Iranians had been under the impression that hostilities were to cease during the armistice, and they expressed bewilderment at the continued military activity of the Reds.

Officers Are Angry.

Many demobilized officers as well as those still in uniform were indignant over the Red bombings. While most of them desire peace there are some who feel it would have been better to go on fighting.

Indications that the British were uncertain what the Reds would do were seen in the fact that 24 hour watch was maintained on the road leading to Teheran for two days after the Iranians ceased resistance last Thursday. The watch was withdrawn following a promise by the Russians to stand fast during armistice negotiations.

A British mechanized column, after an overnight contact with the Red army at Kazvin, 90 miles northwest of Teheran, retired today in the direction of Aveh Pass on the Hamadan road. The pass is 60 miles southwest of the point where the Russians, moving in from the north, and the British, advancing from the southwest, met yesterday morning.

Premier Ali Furanghi spoke to parliament briefly yesterday morning and indicated a belief that the trouble soon would be settled. He mentioned that the British and Russians had presented terms and added: "We expect everything to be settled within two days."

Agree to Hold Positions.

The premier said that in any case there was nothing in prospect to cause anxiety to any one in Teheran.

In presenting the terms the British and Russians assured the Iranians that they would hold their present positions.

The zone under control of the Reds includes Kazvin, Rescht, Meshed, Shahrud, Gurgan, Gilan, Mazandaran, and Zinjan. The British are occupying Urmia, Kermanshah, Dizful, Ahwaz, and Bushire.

CASUALTY REVEALS ARMY FLYING UNITS ARE NOW IN ICELAND

Washington, D. C., Sept. 1 (AP).—Announcement that Lieut. George E. Meeks died in a plane crash in Iceland today disclosed officially for the first time that army units have reached the island.

Lieut. G. E. Meeks. [(AP) Wirephoto.]

The war department announced here on Aug. 22 that Meeks had been killed at an offshore base, but would not say which base. This reticence was attributed to unwillingness to reveal that army fliers, and perhaps other army units, had reached Iceland to reënforce marines previously sent there.

Meeks, 27 years old, was the son of Capt. George C. Meeks, retired commander of a Washington fire engine company.

Tax Office Open Tonight for Pre-Penalty Payments

County Treasurer John Toman yesterday announced his office will be open until 8 p. m. tonight to receive second instalment payments on 1940 taxes. All unpaid bills after that hour will be assessed a 1 per cent penalty, except those received by mail and postmarked midnight or earlier. Toman said so far this year collections have totaled more than $138,000,000, or almost $20,000,000 more than in the same period last year.

Two Couples, Two Quarrels, Two Tragedies

Two tragedies inspired by trivial incidents were recorded on police blotters last night. In one, a 15 year old high school girl shot and killed herself after a puppy love quarrel with a 16 year old boy. In the other, the young mother of three children leaped to her death from a moving automobile after a picnic quarrel with her husband.

The victims were Betty Smith, 7627 Dante avenue, and Mrs. Marie Wheeler, 22, of 11705 Burley avenue.

The Schoolgirl Tragedy.

Betty, police said, was a victim of her own love of fun. Two weeks ago she met a former neighborhood acquaintance, Edward Bearby, 2812 East 76th street, and renewed their friendship.

Yesterday they went to the 75th street beach.

"I feel like teasing you," she warned.

The rest of the afternoon she teased young Bearby, hiding his clothes on the beach, pulling his hair, and throwing sand at him. He didn't like it. He took her home and left.

Then young Bearby wrote a note to Betty, complaining that she was always teasing him, and that he didn't intend to see her any more. He gave the note to his chum, Norman Smith, 16, of 7815 Saginaw avenue, to deliver to Betty.

Letter Brings Tears.

The Smith boy, no relation to the girl, rode to her home on his bicycle. He saw her read the note and cry. He pedaled back on his bike to the Bearby home.

"Betty's a good girl," he reported. "You'd better go back and cheer her up."

Young Bearby got out his bicycle. The two rode to the Smith home. No one answered. They opened the door—and found Betty dead on the bedroom floor, a bullet wound in her breast and a hunting rifle at her side. The note lay near by.

Not long afterward Mrs. Wheeler and her husband, Wilson Wheeler, a crane operator, were driving home from Green Lake, Ind., with their children, 1, 2, and 3 years of age. At the lake Wheeler had gone in search of kindling for a fire. When he returned, Mrs. Wheeler scolded him for having been gone longer than she had expected.

The quarrel was resumed on the way home. At 128th street and Avenue O, Mrs. Wheeler leaped from the car, suffering a fatal neck fracture.

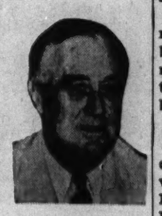
PRESIDENT ASKS U. S. TO DESTROY NAZI DOMINION

Calls for Sacrifices; Assails Critics.

BY WILLIAM STRAND.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hyde Park, N. Y., Sept. 1.—President Roosevelt today called upon Americans to do everything in their power to crush Adolf Hitler and the Nazi forces.



President Roosevelt. [AP Wirephoto.]

The President sounded again his refrain that America is menaced by the Nazis. He declared there can be no compromise with Hitler and appealed to the nation for greater effort and sacrifices to effect the destruction of Nazism. He did not explain what sacrifices are intended or what he meant by the word "everything."

"Forces of insane violence have been let loose by Hitler upon this earth," said the President. "We must do our full part in conquering them. I know that I speak the conscience and determination of the American people when I say that we shall do everything in our power to crush Hitler and his Nazi forces.

Can't Hesitate, He Says.

"Our fundamental rights are threatened by Hitler's violent attempt to rule the world. . . . We cannot hesitate, we cannot equivocate in the great task before us."

The President warned that the task may be long and arduous but said it must come before private aims and private interests. Coupled with his denunciation of Hitler was an outburst directed at opponents of his foreign policy, whom he described as "a few appeasers and Nazi sympathizers."

He said scornfully that they would have him become the "modern Benedict Arnold" by negotiating with the Nazi leader.

"This course I have rejected," the President declared. "I reject it again."

Demands Greater Safeguards.

Mr. Roosevelt also hinted that the United States navy may be used to convoy American war materials for Britain thru the Nazi submarine blockade, declaring the nation must increase its production and "more greatly safeguard it on its journeys to the battlefields."

The use of American warships for convoys has been opposed strenuously by noninterventionists in congress and others interested in keeping the United States from being involved again in Europe's ceaseless warfare.

Warning against undue optimism over the difficulties which Hitler has encountered in the war on Russia, Mr. Roosevelt echoed sentiments which have been expressed by Winston Churchill, British prime minister. Churchill has indicated his belief that the war effort has lagged alarmingly both in Britain and the United States since the outbreak of the German-Russian conflict.

Seeks End of World Conquest.

"I give solemn warning to those who think that Hitler has been blocked and halted that they are making a very dangerous assumption," the President said.

He admitted, however, that the Nazi legions seem to be making slow progress. In any war, he said, that is the time to strike harder and throw more energy into the job of defeating the enemy—"to end for all time the menace of world conquest and thereby end all talk or thought of any peace founded on a compromise with evil itself."

The President's bellicose remarks reportedly were inspired by reports from administration leaders regarding the rising tide of anti-war sentiment thruout the nation.

TEXT OF SPEECH

'ALMOST A CALL TO ARMS' BRITISH VIEW OF SPEECH

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 1.—British reaction tonight to President Roosevelt's Labor day speech was that "it was almost a call to arms to the American people." This interpretation was given by the New York correspondent of the Daily Mail, which ran the story under the headline, "Roosevelt Says Convoys—U. S."

The Daily Telegraph played up the speech with the headline, "Roosevelt Pledge to Crush Hitler." Other papers stressed the President's insistence upon greater output to aid Britain.

The Daily Mail said the speech was received here with unusual eagerness because "there is growing nervousness that the first fine American enthusiasm for the allied cause has not been maintained in recent weeks."

F. D. R. Job Is "Persuasion."

Despite the front page report predicting "imminent adoption of convoys" by the United States, a Daily Mail editorial declared it is still the President's task to "persuade the American people of the imminence of peril."

It charged that "appeasers" in America have "attempted personal intervention with the President himself."

Altho the Daily Mail stated that "reading between the lines of the President's address it is plain United States output is far less than it might be," it warned that "it isn't for us to cast stones. Our own attitude was similar before the fall of France."

The Daily Telegraph also assumed that Mr. Roosevelt was appealing for American convoys, saying that "increased protection for the transport of American munitions means defiance of U-boats and aircraft of the axis." The main purpose of the speech, the paper added, "was obviously to make clear beyond a peradventure that the United States never can compromise with Nazism."

"Life or Death," Fascists Say.

ROME, Sept. 1 (AP).—Fascist circles responded to President Roosevelt's speech today by quoting Adolf Hitler's forecast of "a war of life or death" and declaring that Germany and Italy would win. Hitler used the phrase in his last meeting with the British ambassador, Sir Neville M. Henderson. Fascists said they found nothing new in Mr. Roosevelt's assertion that the United States would "do everything in its power to crush Hitler and his Nazi forces."

11 SOLDIERS FLEE GUARDHOUSE; 6 ARE RECAPTURED

New Rochelle, N. Y., Sept. 1 [Special].—Eleven soldiers escaped early today from the sturdy, stone guardhouse of Fort Slocum, a garrison on Davids island a mile off shore here, by smashing the lock of their cell block and sawing thru one-inch steel bars.

Arrow indicates Davids Island.

Three surrendered to a sentry but the other eight stole an officer's canoe and paddled and swam across a bay of Long Island sound to the mainland. Two were caught by a New Rochelle policeman after they had walked a mile. Another surrendered tonight. The other five were still missing and a nine state alarm was sent out by police.

Ten of the men who escaped were regular army recruits and one was a conscript. All were held for intoxication or overstaying leaves.

PREMIER STATES U. S. MAY HELP NEW ZEALAND

TORONTO, Ont., Sept. 1 (AP).—Prime Minister Peter Fraser of New Zealand, who recently conferred with President Roosevelt and other high United States officials, said yesterday he believed the United States would not stand idle if New Zealand, Australia, and the Netherlands East Indies were attacked.

Speaking at a press conference, Fraser said he gained the impression in Washington, D. C., "that any attempt to destroy European civilization in the Pacific would be resisted by the United States."

In answer to a question, he said he had heard reports that President Roosevelt might meet Japanese officials in a sea conference. He commented, "I think every step commensurate with the right of self determination for every Pacific country should be taken."

LABOR TO LOSE IF U. S. GETS IN, SAYS SENATOR

Cheered by Largest St. Charles Crowd.

BY GEORGE TAGGE.

In a stirring reply to President Roosevelt's Labor day address, Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] last night brought cheers from a huge Chicagoland crowd in Pottawattamie park at St. Charles when he demanded that the President keep his pledges to America and abandon his world-wide campaign for the four freedoms. The senator warned American labor that it would lose its rights the first day this country was plunged into war.

Senator Wheeler.

The crowd, estimated at from 20,000 to 30,000, was by far the largest ever to hear a speaker at any St. Charles fall festival, of which this was the 37th. Senator Wheeler spoke under the auspices of the America First committee.

War Mongers Booed.

A militant spirit for peace was shown by the farmers, shop workers, and young folks who came from the Fox river valley communities. Whenever a cheer went up, it blended with whistles and shouts of "You tell 'em, Senator!" and similar encouragement. Roosevelt and the war mongers were booed.

The crowd, dwarfing the gathering of fewer than 1,000 which heard Senator A. B. [Happy] Chandler [D., Ky.] speak for war on Sunday from the same platform, gave additional cheers for Gen. Robert E. Wood, acting national chairman of the America First committee; Mrs. Janet Ayer Fairbank, national vice chairman, and Gen. Thomas S. Hammond, Chicago chapter head. Mrs. Fairbank said 500 membership cards had been signed at the festival and more were pouring in after Wheeler's speech.

In warning labor that it will lose its hard earned gains if the country goes to war, Wheeler told workers to be on their guard against "Judas Iscariots" in unions who would send them into bloody conflict.

Asks End of Name Calling.

To Roosevelt's statement that American workers must build democracy thruout the world, Wheeler replied that it was a war against poverty to which the President had called the people a few years ago. Should they now die to maintain foreign exploitation of millions of workers in Hong Kong, the Malay States, and India? he asked.

Again and again Senator Wheeler quoted Mr. Roosevelt's words of previous years with approval, calling upon the President to live up to them.

"Your words, Mr. President, bind you to democracy with chains of steel," he asserted. "If these men of mistaken idealism succeed in dragging us into war, history will find no better words with which to damn them than the words of Franklin Delano Roosevelt."

FACE 'GRAVE CRISIS'

Senator Wheeler declared:

"Labor day is an American holiday. Labor day—1941—is a day which could be well spent, not on outings, not on picnics—but in sober thought. This nation of yours and mine faces a grave crisis—perhaps the most critical in all its history—critical because of our unsolved domestic problems, because of our huge debt, and critical because this nation has been brought to the brink of war. Soon the decision must be made. Will it be peace or war—freedom or slavery—democracy or dictatorship?

"Today could well be a historic Labor day—if we have the will, the courage, and the intelligence to make it such. Today, the workers of the nation could and should resolve that this republic will not become embroiled in a foreign war. Today, the workers of this nation could and should resolve that they will enlist and fight in a war—a noble war—a war against poverty—a war against unemployment—a war to give the farmer equality with other groups in our nation a war against monopoly—a war against disease a war against all our unsolved economic problems. How I wish it was this

RUSSIAN THRUSTS BEATEN BACK IN 2 AREAS, NAZIS SAY

Soviet Drive to Recross Dnieper Stopped.

BERLIN, Sept. 1 (AP).—The German armies today were declared to have beaten back two Red counteroffensives, one a persistent series of efforts to recross the Dnieper river in the lower Ukraine and the other in an undisclosed sector of the front where 86 Russian tanks were reported smashed by a Nazi corps.

Repeated soviet attempts to recapture positions on the west bank of the Dneiper below Kiev were supported by gunboats, it was stated, but were "repulsed with bloody losses."

In the south military targets on the Crimean peninsula were reported heavily battered by German bombers in their first attack on that section.

In the north about Leningrad the Russian position was described as one of increasing peril. There the Nazi general staff appeared to be concentrating on Oesel Island and Dagoe Island, lying just beyond the mouth of the Gulf of Finland.

A Dual Effort.

This was a dual effort to knock out two more of the few surviving positions protecting the Leningrad sea approaches from the west and to wrest from the Russians aerial bases from which it is believed that Red bombers have been springing at Berlin.

The impression in military circles here was that the Russians, in fleeing captured Tallinn, did not manage to get many troops away from that town and from the Estonian west coast harbor of Haapsalu, whose fall to Nazi forces was announced only today in the Estonian cleanup.

Thus, it was believed, neither Oesel nor Dagoe received much reinforcement.

As to the battle for Tallinn, a recapitulation by the high command stated that 11,432 Russian prisoners, 239 cannon, 91 tanks, two armored trains, and much war material were taken.

60 Ships Sighted Burning.

In the Gulf of Finland more than 60 Russian ships, said the high command, were sighted burning in German minefields.

Subsidiary blows to Russian naval strength in the south also were reported in the high command's announcement that 27 soviet monitors and gunboats had been smashed on the Dnieper north of Kiev since Aug. 26.

East of Salla, in the Finnish arctic region, two Russian divisions were declared encircled and facing imminent destruction.

Costa Rica Refuses Nazi Request to Recall Consuls

San Jose, Costa Rica, Sept. 1 (AP).—Costa Rica today refused Germany's request that its consulates be withdrawn from occupied countries by declaring such action "would be admitting the right of conquest to which Costa Rica and other nations of the American continent are opposed." Foreign Minister Alberto Echandi asked Germany to reconsider its request.

WAVES OF NAZI BOMBERS BLAST ENGLISH TOWN

A NORTHEAST ENGLISH TOWN, Sept. 2 [Tuesday] (AP).—Waves of German bombers attacked this important town last night with scores of heavy explosive and fire bombs. Casualties were suffered, but the toll was not immediately learned. A German bomber crashed. The ship burst into flames and its crew perished.

Many Killed at Hull.

LONDON, Sept. 1 (AP).—German planes bombed Hull on the east coast of England Sunday night and gave London its first air raid alarm since July 27. Two public shelters were destroyed at Hull and many persons were killed. The RAF smashed hard at Germany's Ruhr and Rhineland and the French coast and raided Bremen with American made planes by day.

Blast Harbor Facilities.

BERLIN, Sept. 1 (AP).—The Germans today announced the first large scale aerial attack on Britain since spring, reporting the destruction of harbor facilities on the English east coast in assaults aimed at Hull.

Berlin Bombed, Reds Claim.

MOSCOW, Sept. 1 (AP).—An official announcement tonight said soviet bombers attacked the Berlin district and other German cities last night. Koenigsberg, Danzig, and Memel were among the targets mentioned specifically besides Berlin.

[The Germans said that Russian planes coming in from the Baltic Sunday night failed to reach Berlin.]

Rydzewski Is Elected by Polish Vets' Legion

TRIPOLI AND AIRPORTS ON ITALIAN ISLAND OF RHODES HIT BY BOMBS

CAIRO, Egypt, Sept. 1.—Heavy British bombers early yesterday continued to blast Tripoli, major axis supply base in Libya, British air force headquarters announced today.

Raining explosives on ships, the bombers set one vessel afire and started blazes on other craft. Other British raiders bombed Maritza and Calato airdromes on the Italian island of Rhodes.

Planes from the British fleet bombed axis ammunition stores near Bardia on the Libyan coast, causing a number of explosions and torpedoed an axis merchantman near Lampedusa island.

Reds Claim Nazi Casualties Total 2,500,000; Million Die

New York, Sept. 1 (AP).—A Moscow radio broadcast said today that German casualties on the German-Russian front now totaled about 2,500,000, including 1,000,000 killed.

RED ARMY MAKES ITS BEST STAND OF WAR—RUSSIA

Isolated Units Fight On Behind Nazi Line.

MOSCOW, Sept. 2 [Tuesday] (AP).—The Red army was reported making its strongest stand of the war today along the entire front with the tenacious help of Russian units isolated behind German lines.

Soviet military sources gave this view of the conflict as the official communique for the fifth successive day reported no changes in positions and continued fierce fighting.

The communique reported the destruction of 99 German tanks and 100 trucks on the outskirts of a town identified as "O." It added that nearly 1,000 Nazis were killed and that their losses included quantities of machine guns, mine throwers, anti-tank guns, 10 armored cars and 50 motorcycles.

Get Time to Dig In.

Vigorous Russian stands in pockets behind the main positions of Adolf Hitler's army, particularly on the Black sea coast and in northern Estonia, appeared to have attracted much German attention, giving the Russian front line forces time to dig in at new positions.

Continued counter-attacks by the central front army of Marshal Semeon Timoshenko were indicated in military dispatches, while the defenders of Leningrad on the right flank and the lower Dnieper on the left held against German pressure.

Encirclement plans of a German Schutz Staffel [elite guard] division and a Finnish brigade driving against soviet troops thru forests and swamps on the far northern front were declared by the Red army high command to have been smashed thru a bloody blow against one unit in the operation.

Trap Finnish Regiment.

A Finnish regiment of 2,000 men which had fought to the rear of the Red army detachments and succeeded in cutting a highway was trapped in a Russian counter-encirclement and only 600 escaped. Minethrowers and other weapons were listed among the booty.

There still was no confirmation here of German claims to have reduced the Tallinn pocket in Estonia, to the west of Laningrad, or of the Finnish claim to Viipuri [Viborg] to the northwest.

The highwater mark of the Nazi invasion acknowledged here runs thru Novgorod, on the west bank of the Volkhov river on the northern flank, and Dnepropetrovsk, on the west bank of the Dnieper in the south.

Between these strongly fortified sectors, where trench warfare appeared to be developing, Red army forces were said to be hammering the Germans incessantly in stiff, mobile counteroffensives.

HUGE OIL TANK SET AFIRE.

Martinsville, Ill., Sept. 1 (AP).—Lightning set fire to an oil storage tank of 35,000 barrel capacity west of here today, causing damage estimated by the Ohio Oil company at $65,000 to $75,000.

FINNS RULE OUT PEACE; FIGHT ON! CRIES WAR CHIEF

Demands Ancient Soil Be Won from Reds.

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HELSINGFORS, Finland, Sept. 1.—Lieut. Gen. Karl Lennart Oesch, who led the Finnish forces which captured Viipuri [Viborg], ancient capital of Karelia, spurred his victorious army on to new successes today in answer to London and Stockholm reports of an early peace with Russia.

Lieut. Gen. Oesch.

"Our fight is not finished," he told the men in the battle scarred Viipuri square as he emphasized that there still are old territorial demands to be settled with Moscow. "Ancient Finnish soil is still in the hands of the enemy."

"May your success give you strength to carry your task to a final and permanent conclusion," he said as the Finnish battle flag was raised again over the city which Russia occupied after the winter war of 1939-'40.

Call It London Propaganda.

"By the conquest of Viipuri," he said, "the coercive Moscow peace [of 1940] is no more."

Thruout Finland it was generally accepted that the war in the east cannot be altered by a propaganda campaign for a Finnish-Russian peace emanating via radio from London in the west.

Official circles assert that the sacrifices the country made in the last war and now is making in this one forbid peace discussions until bolshevism is annihilated and Finland has won by force of arms all of eastern Karelia, which stretches for 100 miles beyond the Finnish border.

They scorn British reports that Finland has had enough of war and ask how Finland could accept another peace treaty with Russia when Moscow failed to respect the last one.

[A Berlin dispatch said authorized German sources declared they were confident Finland would not arrange a separate peace with Russia under any circumstances.]

Reds Still Hold Some Areas.

Russia still holds some territory ceded to her after the peace treaty of 1940, including the naval base of Hango at the mouth of the gulf of Finland, 80 miles southwest of Helsingfors. In the Karelian areas recaptured from the Russians, representatives of the inhabitants already have met and amalgamated their future with those of Finland.

Field Marshal Baron Karl Gustav Mannerheim often has claimed the return of Russian Karelia to Finland and less than two months ago reëmphasized his determination that the liberation of Finnish soil and Finnish people must be achieved before Finland halts its fight.

[Thru Karelia stretches the railway which links Leningrad with Murmansk, Russia's arctic port. More than half of its inhabitants are of Russian extraction.]

BRITON ASSAILS DELAY IN HOLDING MOSCOW PARLEY

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 1.—"Serious disquiet exists among large sections of the people," Harry Pollitt, British columnist, said today in a speech at Edinburgh, "over the inexplicable delay in holding the British-American-Russian conference in Moscow."

Disquiet has also been caused in Britain, he declares, by "reluctance to create a second front in Europe and the widely held belief that Britain is not sending Russia war materials on an effective scale."

Pollitt charged the government does not have a real grip on the war situation but said there has been a reluctance to criticize because criticism might play into the hands of Hitler and certain government leaders resent it.

STUDENTS VOTE TODAY ON NAMING TUGWELL CHIEF

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico, Sept. 1.—Students of the University of Puerto Rico will meet tomorrow to pass on the appointment of Rexford Guy Tugwell as chancellor, and the propriety of his holding that office during a leave of absence to serve as governor of the island.

The student petition for the meeting was approved by Tugwell, veteran New Dealer, after he interrupted his week-end at the governor's mountain home to consult university authorities.

Led by law students, the petition questions the manner of Tugwell's selection as chancellor; the wisdom of the selection of Rafael Menendez Ramos, former college of agriculture dean, as administration chief and acting chancellor in Tugwell's absence, and opposes the leave of absence for the chancellor, and proposed selection of Richard Pattee, former faculty member now with the state department, as vice chancellor. The students also demand action on long promised university "reforms." They charge many faculty members lack academic preparation.

TELLS OF NAZI ATTACK ON U. S. SHIPS AT SUEZ

New York, Sept. 1 (AP).—The American magazine said today that a correspondent had reported that Nazi bombers staged an unsuccessful moonlight raid on three unarmed American merchant vessels at Suez on July 14 shortly after their arrival with war supplies for Britain.

The correspondent said he was aboard one ship, which carried $5,000,000 worth of supplies, and that the planes roared overhead four times, thrice dropping bombs. No direct hits were scored, but one of the vessels suffered several sprung plates and broken portholes, he reported.

"Anti-aircraft guns, searchlights, and British fighter planes were making the air hot," the writer added, "but the bomber risked one last visit. This time he dropped incendiary bombs which made a series of harmless plops 10 yards off the starboard side. Then he roared for home but a British fighter got him."

SCHOOLS OPEN TODAY; EXPECT 438,610 PUPILS

For 438,610 children in Chicago vacation days end this morning. The city's 454 high and elementary schools will reopen. That enrollment figure was forecast by James B. McCahey, president of the board of education. It is a decrease of almost 10,000 from last September's enrollment. McCahey said the drop is smaller than it has been in recent years and shows the decline in enrollment, which started in 1931, is nearing an end. The decline has been attributed to the declining birth rate.

During the summer vacation the school board spent $2,223,172 on repairing and improving the school buildings.

With the exception of a few towns, schools will also reopen today in the suburbs in Cook county. Elementary schools will reopen on Sept. 8 in Bellwood, Elmwood Park, Homewood, Skokie, Northbrook, Wilmette, Evanston, and Winnetka. High schools will reopen in Northbrook, Lyons, Evanston, and Bloom township in Sept. 8 also.

Catholic schools in the Chicago archdiocese will reopen tomorrow. Msgr. Daniel F. Cunningham, superintendent of those schools, estimated an enrollment of 195,000.

SUN, HEAT, DUST OF IRAN PARCH BRITISH INVADERS

Thirsty Troops Buy Melons at Exorbitant Prices.

BY SAM BREWER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH THE BRITISH FORCES IN IRAN, Aug. 20 [Delayed].—British forces hastened thru Iran today toward a junction with their Russian allies.

[Teheran dispatch yesterday said the Russians and British had joined forces at Kazvin, about 90 miles northwest of the Iranian capital.]

The British raced along so rapidly that we had difficulty in keeping up by automobile over the rocky and dusty Persian mountain roads.

There were no signs of warfare along the route. Stones were thrown by boys at four American and British correspondents who were walking in one British occupied town.

Sell Melons at High Prices.

In general, the only counteroffensive the Iranians carried on was the sale of melons at exorbitant prices. They sold the fruit to troops who were parched with thirst after traveling beneath a hotter sun than in Egypt or Libya.

A stream of British army trucks, cars and an occasional tank moved over the rugged roads. Most of the country thru which the British traversed was as burned as any desert.

The potential richness of the land was shown by patches of luxuriant vegetation wherever there was so much as a trickle of water. About every 30 or 40 miles there was enough water to resemble an oasis.

Some villages stood in barren country without the slightest visible means of making a livelihood.

Find Ragged Inhabitants.

The bigger villages were located in rich patches of green in the sunburned landscape where passing troops found ragged inhabitants standing at the roadside with piles of luscious melons. The Iranians were not smiling, nor were they hostile. They looked as tho they never had anything to smile about.

The troops moving thru Iran belonged to the Indian command and were either British troops from India or Indians. There were Gurkhas—squat, dark men with their famous "kukri," big knives, swinging at their belts and wearing broad felt hats—Sikhs, and Punjabis.

As the column rumbled thru one city, most of the population turned out and watched silently. The people were kept in order by Iranian police who wore light blue uniforms, but there was little need to keep order. Most of them apparently had no idea what really was going on.

WILLKIE IS MOVIE COUNSEL IN QUIZ ON PROPAGANDA

Washington, D. C., Sept. 1 (AP).—Wendell Willkie, 1940 Republican Presidential candidate, confirmed today reports that he would represent motion picture interests in a forthcoming senate inquiry into whether the film industry has engaged in propaganda.

In response to questions, Willkie said by telephone from New York he had requested a one week delay in the investigation, scheduled to start Wednesday. "I asked the postponement," he added, "in order to familiarize myself with details of the situation. We expect to show that altho the motion picture industry has not engaged in any kind of propaganda, the men in the industry are completely opposed to Nazism."

Chairman D. Worth Clark [D., Idaho] of the senate group, conducting the inquiry, told reporters that Willkie's request for a postponement seemed a fair one. He said he would discuss it with other committee members and added it was possible a postponement would be granted at least until next Monday.

13 DIE AS FRENCH PLANE CRASHES AT MARSEILLES

MARSEILLES, France, Sept. 1 (AP).—An Air France transport plane dived suddenly today into Lake Bolmon, a small salt water estuary northwest of here, killing 13 occupants.

A French member of the French-Italian armistice commission, Jean Gourret, was among those killed, and an Italian member, Mario Petorinu, was one of three others gravely injured.

Twelve persons, among them the three crewmen, were found dead in the plane and the 13th, a woman, succumbed shortly afterward. First reports of the accident said that the pilot noted something wrong with one engine soon after taking off this morning for Toulouse and turned back. The balky engine was said to have stalled as the plane struggled toward Marignane airport, a few miles outside Marseilles.

Great-Aunt of Churchill, Daughter Die in Crash

LONDON, Sept. 1 (AP).—Lady Edward Spencer Churchill, Prime Minister Winston Churchill's great-aunt, was killed, and her daughter, Lady Beryl Cowdray, was injured today in an automobile accident near Cobham, Surrey.

FINDS GERMANS READY TO WAGE WAR FOR YEARS

U. S. Stand Stiffens Their Morale, Says Writer.

BY ALEX SMALL.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Sept. 1.—The German people today entered their third year of war in a mood of silent endurance. Just what the people here think about the war is the concern of all foreign observers and it is the point on which it is hardest to get information.

This is true in part because the only mood that can be expressed without danger is optimism. This country, like all others, does not permit the expression of defeatist ideas during war. Even in the press and propaganda there is no jubilation.

However, it is evident that German morale has been stiffened by American help to Britain and other foes of Germany and by the threatening tone of President Roosevelt's speeches.

The public apparently is being prepared for more calls on its powers. The well informed Deutsche Allgemeine Zeitung stated that the end of the second year of the war practically coincides with the end of its "continental European phase." The second phase has begun with the battles in North Africa and the Atlantic. In other words, Germans are being prepared for a struggle that will take on intercontinental proportions.

Decisive Victory Seems Remote.

The grave mood of the Germans is caused by the apparent remoteness of decisive victory. Brilliant campaigns have roused enthusiasm, but none can envisage clearly just what final victory for Germany might be like nor where it could be won.

The Germans see the immense power of their army engaged in a conflict so gigantic it appears to dumbfound them. Russian capacity for resistance has been greater than the average German was led to believe it was, altho no one doubts that the soviets will be defeated. It is being noted, too, that the losses are heavy. It is little consolation to think that the Russian losses are far heavier. Just how heavy the losses are no one knows.

All Thoughts on America.

The preoccupation above all others in German minds is the rôle of America in this war. The line followed by the American government during the last year has been regarded by Germans with a mixture of astonishment, dismay, and rage. The press cannot explain to the public's satisfaction why the American government should be intervening on behalf of Britain.

Nor can the average man determine whether America is in the war or not. Official Germany unofficially considers America at war with Germany. The date of American entrance is usually set at the adoption by congress of the lend-lease bill. Nonetheless, the public notices with bewilderment that the American embassy is still open in Berlin and that the farce of normal diplomatic relations is maintained.

American aid to Germany's foes has made the average German thoroly afraid of the consequences of a possible Anglo-American victory, and hardened his determination to fight against it to the last extremity.

Effect Laid to Roosevelt.

This effect has been produced, observers say, by President Roosevelt's speeches and acts. Scanty official accounts published here of the doings of Mr. Roosevelt have created an image of him as partly a bloodthirsty fanatic, partly a frivolous, practical joker.

Few took seriously a published story about an American plan to sterilize all Germans. But even the most conservative have been dismayed by a declaration imputed to Mr. Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill of Britain that Anglo-Americans must dominate all continents.

Interpreting the declarations of President Roosevelt—now considered here the leader of the war against Germany, with Churchill merely his stooge—these thoughtful people see the President intending to write another and worse treaty of Versailles.

Won't Refuse Sacrifices.

If no one feels elated at the prospect of even several more years of wartime restrictions, still there is no one who will refuse to sacrifice the utmost to avoid the nightmare of defeat. Too many Germans now living know what defeat means. Their distress and misery, they fear, would be even worse than before.

The German army is, if anything, better than ever; war industries apparently are roaring at top speed; reliable reports indicate British bombing has done slight damage in industrial and shipping areas, and the civilian population is nourished and clothed on a scale that promises no trouble because of discontent.

In Hospital

MAUREEN O'HARA.

Reno, Nev., Sept. 1 (AP).—Maureen O'Hara, film actress, in a hospital here since Saturday for observation and X-rays, said today she feared she might have appendicitis. She is in Reno to establish residence after announcing she would sue George Brown, film director, for divorce.

47 RUSSIANS WHO FLEW TO ALASKA HIDE MISSION

Planes Poised for Flight to Washington.

NOME, Alaska, Sept. 1 (AP).—Gen. Mikhail Gromov, commander of the 47 Russians flying on a secret mission from Moscow to Washington, D. C., indicated tonight that his party, traveling in two big seaplanes, probably would take off from this sub-arctic harbor tomorrow morning. He said the expedition would fix the departure time after the arrival of the Russian consul, Fedotoff, from Fairbanks.

Mikhail Gromov

The planes arrived here unheralded last night. Weather permitting, they probably will fly south tomorrow to Sitka, Alaska; Seattle, Wash., and San Francisco, Cal. Late reports said the flying weather along the 1,800 mile route to Seattle had become ideal.

Refuse to Talk of Mission.

Neither Gen. Gromov nor any other member of his party would talk about the mission to Washington. Even the names of most of the Russians, who apparently are flyers, mechanics, or radio operators, were withheld.

[A New York dispatch said the Russians are pilots and mechanics who will fly American made fighter planes to Russia by way of Alaska and Siberia.]

Three of the Russians are a Col. Iumasheff and two experienced arctic pilots, Kotikow and Pesorow.

The Russians said they left Moscow on Thursday and were in the air 42 hours while flying the 6,000 miles.

Washington Is Silent.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 1 (AP).—United States and Russian officials maintained silence today on the mission of the 47 Russians at Nome. Some quarters indicated the mission may be made up largely of technicians coming to look over latest American war-machines, and discuss technical problems with army and navy experts. Officials discounted the possibility of switching the contemplated Russian-American-British conversations on aid to Russia from Moscow to Washington.

Norwegian Students Over 13 Ordered to Pick Berries

OSLO, Norway, Sept. 1 (AP).—The ministry of education today ordered all students over 13 years of age to spend two weeks in September gathering berries and nuts.

41 Survivors of 2 Ships Sunk at Sea Reach Lisbon

LISBON, Portugal, Sept. 1 (AP).—The Portuguese liner Lima arrived from the Azores today with 41 survivors of two British ships sunk recently in the Atlantic. The sunken vessels were the 4,665 ton freighter Sheridan, torpedoed July 29 while en route to Iran with war material from England, and the Dutch merchant ship Sitoebondo, sunk on a voyage to Capetown from England.

[Fifty-three survivors of the Sitoebondo reached New York yesterday.]

SNAGS APPEAR AHEAD OF PETAIN ONE-PARTY PLAN

Occupied Paris' Press Ignores Scheme.

VICHY, France, Sept. 1 (AP).—Chief of State Henri Philippe Petain's announcement of a new government party, the Legion of War Veterans and Volunteers of the National Revolution, was censored out of the German controled Paris press today, indicating that the totalitarian style movement was troublebound.

Petain's statement here yesterday to veterans celebrating the first anniversary of the founding of their legion that it would be broadened into the popular base of support for the Vichy régime was cut almost by half when it appeared in the Paris newspapers.

It was printed ostensibly as Petain's complete utterance, with no deletions indicated, and to the reader who did not know otherwise it appeared that he had merely made an inspirational speech to war veterans. All reference to the legion as such or to the new rôle into which Petain cast it was deleted.

Even La Petite Gironde of Bordeaux, circulating in both occupied and unoccupied zones, omitted mention of the legion in reporting the veterans' ceremonies. The coldness of the Paris press was all the more marked since Petain's move was first publicly suggested by the Paris newspaper Les Nouveaux Temps.

Similar Move Defeated.

The last previous effort to form a government mass movement was thru the so-called National group after the fall of France, but it failed thru the opposition of a collaborationist organization in the occupied zone known as the National Popular group. The National group collapsed.

The similarity of names figured in the National group-National Popular group situation. It may figure in the present case also. Observers speculated on the possible significance of the fact that the anti-Russian volunteer organization in the occupied zone also is called "the legion" and its members are referred to as legionnaires in the press outside Vichy's control.

Vice Premier Jean Darlan, acting in his capacity as navy minister, shook up the naval high command, removing his longtime collaborator, Admiral Maurice Leluc, as commander in chief. In Leluc's place, Darlan appointed Rear Admiral Auphan, youngest admiral in the navy, and named him also as director of the naval ministry secretariat. Political circles could offer no explanation for the change.

British to Free Gen. Dentz.

The French said they had been notified by the British that Gen. Henri Dentz, former high commissioner for Syria, who is reported slated for an important government post, and other high French officers held as hostages for the return of Britons following the Syrian campaign, will be released on Wednesday.

The Paris press printed a statement by Fernand de Brinon, Vichy representative at Paris, that there had been no general political discussions with Germany. Asked whether talks for an agrement were in view, de Brinon said:

"This is the wish, but for the moment we are only trying to prepare for the possibility of such discussion."

Ex-Labor Minister Seized.

Leon Perrier, long a senator from the Isere department, has been arrested and interned at Vals-les-Bains on charges of being a "notorious Free Mason" and maintaining contact with the "Free French."

Former Vice Premier Pierre Laval and Marcel Deat, editor, shot last week by a "Free French" follower, were declared at Versailles to be out of danger. Paul Colette, the assassin, was freed of a charge of being a communist, which might have meant his summary execution.

ANTI-JEWISH TERROR BLAMED IN PARIS KILLING

PARIS, France, Sept. 1 (AP).—A new outbreak of anti-Jewish terror was suspected tonight in the slaying of Adolphe Rosenthal, a Paris stock broker, whose body was found today in a traffic underpass in the fashionable Porte Maillot district. A wallet containing 1,500 francs lay untouched in his pocket.

Rosenthal was killed by a shot in the temple from a small pistol and his body was thrown from an automobile.

Police said he left his home last night with three men posing as policemen who told him they were taking him to a concentration camp.

The broker, once considered one of the biggest Jewish financiers in Europe, was a brother of Leonard Rosenthal, diamond merchant whose transactions in diamonds, pearls, and emerald involved huge sums. Leonard Rosenthal is said now to live in the United States.

BRITISH ACT TO FORCE 500,000 WOMEN INTO INDUSTRY IN YEAR

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Sept. 1.—Local employment exchanges today received from Minister of Labor Ernest Bevin instructions designed to put at least half a million more women to work in industry within a year and add 200,000 to the auxiliary transport service by June.

The instructions provide for enforcement of industrial conscription. Any girl who refuses the job assigned to her will be subject to maximum penalties of a $400 fine and three months in prison.

Study of the 300,000 cards of 26 year olds who registered on Saturday has begun and many, it was stated, will be called within five weeks. Only 100,000 of 1,800,000 girls who have registered have so far been assigned jobs.

Urges a Briton Be Slain for Each French Death in Raids

BERLIN, Sept. 1 (AP).—The German official news agency, DNB, quoted the newspaper Paris-Soir tonight as suggesting editorially that one Englishman living in France be executed for every Frenchman killed on French soil by British air raiders.

JAPANESE ARMY SAYS IT'S SET TO FIGHT BLOCKADE

U. S. and Britain Blamed by Spokesman.

TOKIO, Sept. 2 [Tuesday] (AP).—The Japanese army's chief spokesman declared last night that Japan was determined to use force if necessary to "break thru the encirclement by the United States, China, Britain, and the Netherlands" even tho this may mean "entry into a long term war against Britain and America."

The spokesman, Lieut. Col. Itsuo Mabuchi, chief of the army press section of imperial headquarters, told the nation in a broadcast that Japan was resolved to build her co-prosperity sphere in east Asia despite British-American efforts at restraint.

"The longer we remain passive against such moves, the more dangerous it will be for this country," he said, adding that the Washington and London governments were well aware of this and were acting accordingly.

Urges Diplomacy.

Soldiers should not be used uselessly, the colonel declared, adding that therefore diplomatic efforts should be pushed as long as possible.

"Peaceful means will not be allowed to be dragged along forever," he said.

He added that if diplomatic means failed Japan would "break out of encirclement" forcefully before economic pressure reduced her to pauper status.

The broadcast was a part of a memorial meeting for the 100,000 who perished in the Tokio earthquake and fire of 1923. It injected a militant note in contrast to other developments of the day.

Japanese hopes for postponement of a showdown had risen with reports that the United States might avoid offending Japanese feelings by sending most of its aid to Russia thru Iran [Persia] instead of Vladivostok.

Eye Approach of Tanker.

The stock market took a stronger tone on news of British-Russian successes in Iran and press reports that the main shipment of American supplie to Russia would be thru Iranian ports rather than the Sea of Japan.

The press and nation has watched uneasily the approach of the first American tanker bearing aviation gasoline which is forbidden to the Japanese. The tanker left Los Angeles Aug. 14 and is expected to arrive in the Sea of Japan this week. The Japanese have made representations over the shipment.

The press kept up its insistence on the "immutability" of Japan's tie with Germany and Italy. But now that it has dawned on Japanese that the Russian-German war may be protracted, commentators have stressed the necessity of solving Pacific problems without new conflict.

TROOP RIVALRIES KEEP BERMUDA POLICE ON ALERT

British and U. S. Sailors Engage in Brawls.

The following is another in a series of stories by Mr. Fulton on conditions and relations among native Bermudians, British, and Americans at the American island base in Bermuda.

BY WILLIAM FULTON.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Sept. 1.—Down the streets and in the cafés of this colonial capital on a Saturday night the visitor sees a bewildering potpourri of fighting men—American sailors in white duck and marines in khaki, conscripts from the United States, British sailors and Scottish Highlander troops wearing tem-o-chanters, bearded English seamen off armed merchantmen that come here to shepherd convoys, Free French from Tahiti, native Negro soldiers in shorts, and Canadian, Australian, and Dutch troops.

Only by exercising the greatest vigilance are the military and local authorities able to keep this variegated garrison out of serious trouble. The relationship between two camps living under one tent—the Americans at peace and the other forces at war—is one of the most difficult situations confronting those who came here to set up a huge American outpost fortress.

Service Club Set Up.

Efforts on the part of local civilian enthusiasts for the British empire, notably the English-speaking union, to bring about some sort of comradery between the different uniformed forces have been only partially successful.

Several months ago 40 members of the American colony here formed the United service club and took over the Hamilton hotel. Soldiers of all the forces are welcome there, where recreational facilities are provided. Work is carried on by volunteers.

There are about 100 sailors and soldiers in the club on the average night, according to personal observation, divided among American sailors, British sailors, and the Cameron Highlanders from Scotland. Most of the men congregate in the bar, where a can of beer costs 15 cents, including Bermudian customs duty. Only beer is served here.

Appeals from Last War.

On a wall were hung the union jack and Stars and Stripes. To one side was tacked up a banner bearing the red cross of Lorraine on a field of blue and the legend, "France libre," which was designed by a local Betsy Ross as her conception of what the flag of the Free French should be. Posted on a side wall were recruiting posters and liberty bond appeals from the last war.

The service club is barred to officers because they have entrée to the swankier hotels and fashionable water front drinking oases such as the Twenty-one and the Ace of Clubs. Common sailors and soldiers are not admitted to these.

There are two British service clubs about the town, the Sailors' Recreation rooms and the Maple Leaf club, but few American uniforms are seen in them.

Town Bars are Popular.

Judging from a stroll thru town, the local public bars are much more the popular resorts, altho in most of these places a bottle of beer costs 25 or 30 cents. It is cheaper in some pubs to buy rum from the West Indies dies than it is to buy beer, a fact which the military authorities bemoan. This stems from the theory there are fewer fights from beer than from hard liquor.

There are periodic fistfights and brawls between the British and American sailors. But the United States navy maintains a shore patrol at the ratio of one to every 10 men on liberty, which is a strong guard. It was said petty officers aboard American ships are constantly admonishing their men to avoid fights.

One naval officer maintained that American sailors, in the interest of harmony, walked away from scraps more often than they waded into them.

Fights Sometimes Picked.

"It is a tough problem to cope with," he said. "Often in a bar you will find a seaman from a British armed merchantman, just in from 17 weeks of duty aboard a floating arsenal, brooding in a corner. He resents the young, clean cut American sailor standing at the bar because he isn't in the war, and the Britisher sometimes tries to pick a fight."

There is the story going the rounds of a British sailor and an American sailor standing at the bar insulting each other one night. Said the American: "To hell with your king!"

The Britisher pondered for some time and then retorted: "To hell with Babe Ruth!"

Bermudian bars are closed weekday afternoons from 2 until 5:30 o'clock in an effort to foster sobriety. There are different closing hours based on the type of license for taverns, but none stays open later than 1 a. m. Saturday nights most bars are locked by midnight and some earlier.

Flyer Tells of Arrest.

This may be an isolated experience, but one young American flyer, whom this correspondent ran across at the Coral Beach club, was bitter toward the Bermudians. He said he was hauled to jail one night merely because a native policeman abused Americans in vile language and he felt called upon to defend his homeland with similar words. He said he was fined four pounds [about $16] on trumped up charges.

8 EXILED LEADERS URGE HELP OF U.S. IN EUROPE'S WAR

Haakon and Peter Join in Broadcast Appeal.

New York, Sept. 1 (AP).—The crowned heads of two nations and representatives of six others, all driven into exile by Nazi Germany, broadcast an appeal from London today on the war's second anniversary for increased resistance to Adolf Hitler's forces.

The speakers on a program relayed here by Columbia Broadcasting system included King Haakon of Norway; King Peter II, of Jugo-Slavia; Gen. Wladyslaw Sikorski, Polish premier and war minister; Premier Pieter Gerbraudy of the Netherlands; Premier Hubert Pierlot of the Belgian government; Jan Masaryk, secretary of the Czecho-Slovak government; C. H. Simopoulos, Greek minister in London, and J. Bech, Luxembourg's foreign minister.

Haakon Makes Appeal.

The Norwegian monarch, whose words were echoed by the others, said:

"Hitler and Hitler régimes are hated from the bottom of the heart of the great majority of the people in occupied countries, and you, the citizens of the United States of America, will certainly agree that a united Europe under the leadership of a despised nation is an impossibility."

"The Norwegian people are fighting a stubborn and tough passive resistance against aggression and they need all the sympathy and assistance it is possible to give them," the king went on.

He expressed thanks to President Roosevelt and the people of America "for the benefits and sympathies for Norway's fight for freedom-which we have received and are receiving on an everlasting scale."

Young King Peter said that the Jugo-Slav people are undergoing bitter hardships "but they are still fighting for their ideals, fighting heroically, without rest or respite."

Poles Soon to Aid Russia.

Gen. Sikorski said that soon Polish troops would be fighting at the side of soviet Russia against the Germans in accordance with the recent pact between his government and the Kremlin.

Europe was pictured by the Netherlands premier as "one big prison" in the hands of "Hitler, the established jailer who knows no right—only might." He said the United States had given the conquered peoples of Europe new hope.

Premier Pierlot of Belgium said: "We count upon the help of the great American nation. We are proud to be taking part in a struggle in which the future of mankind is at stake. But let me tell you this: Time is pressing. Over there in the occupied territories all the people are suffering terribly."

ROOSEVELT ASKS NATION TO CRUSH HITLER AND NAZIS

Calls for U. S. Sacrifices; Assails Critics.

day—we celebrate the rights of free laboring men and women.

"The preservation of these rights is now vitally important not only to us who enjoy them—to the whole future of Christian civilization.

"American labor now bears a tremendous responsibility in the winning of this most brutal, most terrible of all wars.

"In our factories and shops and arsenals we are building weapons on a scale great in its magnitude. To all the battle fronts of the world these weapons are being dispatched, by day and by night, over the seas and thru the air. And this nation is now devising and developing new weapons of unprecedented power toward the maintenance of democracy.

"Why are we doing this? Why are we determined to devote our entire industrial effort to the prosecution of a war which has not yet actually touched our own shores?

Holds Rights Are Periled.

"We are not a warlike people. We have never sought glory as a nation of warriors. We are not interested in aggression. We are not interested—as the dictators are—in looting. We do not covet one square inch of the territory of any other nation.

"Our vast effort, and the unity of purpose which inspires that effort, are due solely to our recognition of the fact that our fundamental rights—including the rights of labor—are threatened by Hitler's violent attempt to rule the world.

"These rights were established by our forefathers on the field of battle. They have been defended—at great cost but with great success—on the field of battle, here on our own soil, and in foreign lands, and on the seas all over the world.

"There has never been a moment in our history when Americans were not ready to stand up as free men and fight for their rights.

All Termed Interdependent.

"In times of national emergency, one fact is brought home to us clearly and decisively—the fact that all of our rights are interdependent.

"The right of freedom of worship would mean nothing without freedom of speech. And the rights of free labor as we know them today could not survive without the rights of free enterprise.

"That is the indestructible bond that is between us—all of us Americans: interdependence of interests, privileges, opportunities — interdependence of rights.

"That is what unites us—men and women of all sections, of all races, of all faiths, of all occupations, of all political beliefs. That is why we have been able to defy and frustrate the enemies who believed they could divide us and conquer us from within.

"These enemies all know that we possess a strong navy—gaining in strength. They know that that navy—as long as the navies of the British empire and the Netherlands and Norway and Russia exist—can together guarantee the freedom of the seas. These enemies know that if those other navies are destroyed, the American navy cannot now, or in the future, maintain the freedom of the seas against all the rest of the world.

"These enemies know that our army is increasing daily in its all-round strength.

"These enemies know that today the chief American fighters in the battles now raging are those engaged in American industry.

Finds Production on Rise.

"These enemies know that the course of American production in the past year has shown enormous gains and that the product of these industries is moving to the battle fronts against Hitlerism in increasing volume each day.

"But these enemies also know that our American effort is not yet enough—and that unless we step up the total of our production and more greatly safeguard it on its journeys to the battlefields, these enemies will take heart in pushing their attack in old fields and new.

"I give solemn warning to those who think that Hitler has been blocked and halted that they are making a very dangerous assumption. When in any war your enemy seems to be making slower progress than he did the year before, that is the very moment to strike with redoubled force—to throw more energy into the job of defeating him—to end for all time the menace of world conquest and thereby end all talk or thought of any peace founded on a compromise with evil itself.

"And we know that a free labor system is the very foundation of a functioning democracy. We know that one of the first acts of the axis dictatorships has been to wipe out all the principles and standards which labor has been able to establish for its own preservation and advancement.

"Trade unionism is a forbidden philosophy under these rule or ruin dictators. For trade unionism demands full freedom of expression and peaceful assembly. Trade unionism has helped to give every one who toils the position of dignity which is his due.

"The present position of labor in the United States as an interdependent unit in the life of the nation has not come about by chance. It has been an evolutionary process of a healthy democracy at work.

"Hitler has not worked that way. He will not—he cannot work that way. Just as he denies all rights to individuals, he must deny all rights to groups—of labor, of business, of learning, of the church. He has abolished trade unions as ruthlessly as he has persecuted religion.

"No group of Americans has realized more clearly what Nazi domination of the world means than has organized labor—what it means to their standards of living, their freedom, their lives. No group has a greater stake in the defeat of Nazism, in the preservation of the fundamental freedoms, in the continuance of democracy thruout the world. We have already achieved much; it is imperative that we achieve infinitely more.

"The single-mindedness and sacrifice with which we jointly dedicate ourselves to the production of the weapons of freedom will determine in no small part the length of the ordeal thru which humanity must pass.

Task Described as Grim.

"We cannot hesitate, we cannot equivocate in the great task before us. The defense of America's freedom must take precedence over every private aim and over every private interest. We are engaged on a grim and perilous task. Forces of insane violence have been let loose by Hitler upon this earth.

"We must do our full part in conquering them. For these forces may be unleashed on this nation as we go about our business of protecting the proper interests of our country.

"The task of defeating Hitler may be long and arduous. There are a few appeasers and Nazi sympathizers who say it cannot be done. They even ask me to negotiate with Hitler—to pray for crumbs from his victorious table. They do, in fact, ask me to become the modern Benedict Arnold and betray all I hold dear—my devotion to our freedom—to our churches—to our country. This course I have rejected—I reject it again.

We'll Do Everything, He Says.

"Instead, I know that I speak the conscience and determination of the American people when I say that we shall do everything in our power to crush Hitler and his Nazi forces.

"American workers and American farmers, American business men and American churchmen—all of us together—have the great responsibility and the great privilege of laboring to build a democratic world on enduring foundations.

"May it be said on some future Labor day by some future President of the United States that we did our work faithfully and well."

Rival Labor Day Messages

Need Labor Unity—Green

Grand Rapids, Mich., Sept. 1 (AP).—President William Green of the American Federation of Labor today called for restoration of unity in the ranks of labor "to instill confidence in the American people, promote industrial peace, and spur the national defense program."

William Green.

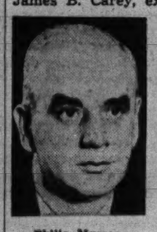
Green's Labor day address, broadcast nationally, did not mention the Congress of Industrial Organizations by name, but contained an offer for labor peace and an assertion that the AFL was arrayed "in solid phalanx to defend America and the allies of America."

"Reactionary" bills in congress, he said, were aimed at labor "because of the excesses of the rebel, dual movement, because of communist inspired strikes by some of its unions which affected defense production, and because of the generally unpatriotic policies of some of its leaders."

"The American Federation of Labor disclaims all responsibility for continuance of the civil war within organized labor at a time when the national safety requires that labor be united," Green said.

Ready to Serve—Murray

Washington, D. C., Sept. 1 (AP).—James B. Carey, executive secretary of the Congress of Industrial Organizations, today delivered over the radio a Labor day message from Philip Murray, president of the CIO, who is ill.



Philip Murray.

"We have shown," Murray said, "that labor has the brains and public spirit to take its place as a responsible participant in the national defense effort.

"As yet, labor's offer of collective participation has not been accepted. We will not cease, however, in our determined effort to see that labor takes its rightful place.

"It is the determination of the CIO that this nation shall be a land worth defending with every effort."

Murray cited extension "of the right of collective bargaining by the CIO to companies whose anti-unionism had become historic" and declared that "this labor marks a great forward wage movement."

He said, however, that "in a period of war production the real wages of American workers will be beset on all sides" by "rising costs of living, by wage taxation and by all kinds of schemes for forced saving."

MEXICO PLEDGES WAR WEAPONS TO DEFEND AMERICA

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 1 (AP).—Mexican arms were pledged to western hemisphere defense today by President Manuel Avila Camacho, who forecast complete restoration of cordial relations with the United States and declared that the national social revolution would continue.

"Jealous of our independence," Avila Camacho said in his first annual message to congress, "We shall not omit a single effort to maintain, along with the inviolability of our territory and sovereignty of our institutions, the integrity of America and the sacred right to think and work as free men in a hemisphere where the great ideals of liberty and justic are affirmed."

The president said the Mexican army and navy were being given new weapons and the arms industry was expanding.

He reiterated that Mexico "is ready to give every aid in the defense of America." Avila Camacho said his government would not "recognize conquest by force" anywhere in the world.

WAR WOULD DOOM RIGHTS OF LABOR, WHEELER WARNS

Says 'Broken Promises' Peril Nation's Faith.

war against unsolved domestic problems that President Roosevelt meant when he said last week: 'We have a war to win.'

"It was this kind of a economic and social war that the President dedicated himself to in the first years of his administration. It is a different kind of a war which the President is talking about today. Now he speaks of a European and Asiatic war. A war that will send American boys to the slaughter pens of Europe.

"There are those who speak of the dignity of labor—who talk of higher wages and shorter hours—who pose as friends of the farmer and the worker—and then urge American entry into a foreign war. These men are the real enemies of the farmer and the working man for they do more than exploit those who work—they would exploit and sacrifice the very lives of the farmers—the laborers—and their sons. The war mongers talk of Benedict Arnold! Talk of traitors! Talk of fifth columnists! Those labor leaders who for personal gain would send their workers into bloody war are without peer among the Judas Iscariots of all history.

They Do the Dying.

"In any war it is the men and women of labor who do the fighting, the dying—and the paying. All America—every person under the Stars and Stripes—has a stake in democracy and freedom and peace.

"Freedom of speech and assemblage—the right to bargain collectively—exist only in democracies—and in democracies only when they are at peace. In the last two days two spokesmen of the President advocated that freedom of speech should be denied to Charles Lindbergh and me. Fight for freedom in Europe and Asia, but deny it to Lindbergh and me here in America! Of course, the administration wants to stop those who are against war—stop them because the administration cannot combat the common sense arguments to keep us out of war.

"The day this republic is plunged into war—labor can forget these hard won rights. Some will tell you it will be only temporary—that it is better to have an American dictator than a foreign dictator. That is sheer poppycock. It took a hundred years to win the right to collective bargaining! Once it is lost—labor can bid it good-by for generations.

"War will cost us democracy. Tolerance and understanding will be replaced with bigotry and prejudice. Civil rights—all our personal liberties—freedom of speech, press, religion, and assemblage—will be gone. Freedom, our priceless heritage of 1776, will have been sacrificed upon the altar of war. Labor unions will be ruthlessly crushed.

Why Hazard Democracy?

"Why must we hazard democracy? Why must we endanger freedom? Why must American blood again drench European soil? Why must America sweat and toil and sacrifice? Not because of anything based on reason, sanity, or facts—but because of a small minority composed of the some greedy, profit hungry international financiers—some reckless hotheads, some whose sympathies and emotions have overcome their judgment—and the communists.

"They chant: 'You can't trust Hitler.' They point to a Hitler record strewn with broken promises, nonaggression pacts, and treaties. They point to Hitler's ruthless invasion of most nations of Europe. Again and again the war mongers cry: 'You can't trust Hitler.'

"To them I say: 'Why should we and why must we trust Hitler?' We seek no military or political alliances with Fascism or communism. The United States of America is no small, weak, defenseless nation."

Emphasizing America's detachment from the miseries of the European and Asiatic continent, the senator then asserted that Americans detest Hitler and would rise as one to defend the ramparts of democracy if this nation were threatened.

"We need not fear armed invasion from any nation or combination of nations," Senator Wheeler said. "We need fear only the reckless adventures of our leaders in the power politics of Europe or Asia. We need fear in this nation only the loss of faith in our government—in our system—or in our leaders.

"We need not trust Hitler—but we must trust the President—and the President must trust the people. When that mutuality of faith and trust is weakened or destroyed—then must we fear the loss of democratic processes in this mighty republic.

"You cannot strengthen the constitutional form of government by prostituting the constitution and the laws which supplement it. You cannot achieve democracy by lies and deceit. You cannot preserve liberty by good intentions or broken promises or by denouncing those who disagree with you as Nazi stooges or traitors. Those are the tactics of Hitler.

"Have our leaders kept faith with the American people, with democracy, and with the spirit of the constitution?

"What about the President's secret meeting with the British prime minister—and his failure to disclose all the facts of that conference? Secrecy is the weapon of dictators. The President's failure to take the American people into his confidence is a deadly blow at democracy. What about the destroyer deal and the attorney general's decision which made it possible? That was certainly no great boon to the cause of democracy. What about Wendell Willkie tossing off his protests against war as mere campaign oratory? That did not serve to make democracy stronger. Now Mr. Willkie says he is going to control the Republican party. He means that the international bankers—the Morgenthaus—are going to try to control it."

Senator Wheeler said that if the war issue were not submitted to the democratic process of open discussion, the ideals of democracy would be betrayed. He then asserted:

"President Roosevelt, you recently stated that you lie awake at night. On those sleepless nights, Mr. President, does not the indelible pencil of your memory write in bold face words the truths you uttered on war and peace several years ago? Do you not remember this eloquent sentence which you delivered in August, 1936?

Recalls Buenos Aires Speech.

"Quote:

"'We can keep out of war if those who watch and decide have a sufficient detailed understanding of the international affairs to make certain that the small decisions of each day do not lead toward war and if, at the same time, they possess the courage to say "no" to those who selfishly or unwisely would let us go to war.'"

Wheeler also recalled President Roosevelt's assertion in Buenos Aires in 1936 that the employment created in turning out armaments was false employment, leading either to wars of aggrandizement against neighbors or to economic collapse. Wheeler said that the President was right then, but that he had apparently forgotten his own text.

Continuing, Senator Wheeler said:

"There are men today, Mr. President, who say that the American people will give their all to see that your four freedoms are established thruout the world. While the American people would like to see liberty established everywhere, they know they cannot do it by force from without.

"Russia, India, China, Siam, Indo-China have been in slavery for centuries and America never sought to interfere with their rôle. The vast majority of Americans are overwhelmingly against being used as cannon fodder to establish liberty in Russia, Germany, Africa, and dozens of other countries.

Says This Isn't Germany.

"There are men today, Mr. President, who want you alone to decide when, where, and how our country should go to war.

"That is wrong, Mr. President. The American people do not subscribe to that philosophy any more than you did a few years ago. This is the United States of America, not totalitarian Germany or Russia. Here we are supposed to have 'government of the people, by the people, and for the people'—not government by one man. Our government rules only with the consent of the governed. It is not enough to say that 'the people do not fully understand, they have not all the knowledge.'

"That is not your language, Mr. President; that is the language of those who believe that the people are only supposed to obey—to fight and die.

No Lovers of Democracy.

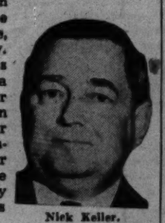
"There are men today, Mr. President, who want you to go back on those brave, freedom loving words you spoke from 1936 to 1940. They say you must not be bound by your solemn promises because they state that times and conditions have changed—that new developments require a new course of action—that you must ask the American people to release you from your promises to them.

"Your words, Mr. President, bind you to democracy with chains of steel. If these men of mistaken idealism succeed in dragging us into war, history will find no better words with which to damn them than the words of Franklin Delano Roosevelt.

"Men and women of America, if you want to keep out of war you must fight for peace. If you want democracy you must first deserve it. You must use your head, not your heart. You must listen to facts, not paid propaganda. You must have courage to speak out against war."

COMMUNIST STRIKES HARMFUL TO LABOR, SAYS HUGH W. CROSS

Strikes inspired by communists and fifth columnists to disrupt the rearmament program have helped give labor a bad name, said Lieut. Gov. Hugh W. Cross yesterday in a speech at a Labor day celebration in the Labor temple at Highland Park under auspices of the Lake County Building Trades council.



Nick Keller.

Cross told the audience that labor disturbances of the type he had described "come clearly under the head of sabotage and will never be tolerated in America."

State Representative Nick Keller of Waukegan drew applause when he praised Senator Burton K. Wheeler [D., Mont.] and THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE for their anti-war stand.

"The American people can thank God for THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE," Keller said. "This great paper has really been fighting for the cause of the American people and fighting a militant battle for America first."

GREEN TO START NINE DAY TOUR OF THE STATE TODAY

Gov. Dwight H. Green will start a nine day tour of state institutions and activities today, leaving from St. Charles, where he passed the night. The tour will end on Sept. 10 in Springfield.

Today the governor will inspect highway 330 and pass the night in White Pines state park, near Oregon. Tomorrow he will inspect state hospitals and highways in the Rock Island-Moline-East Moline district and on Thursday will visit the Hancock county fair at Augusta and pass the night in Pere Marquette state park, near Grafton.

After inspecting the state hospital at Alton Friday, the governor will pass the night in Belleville.

20,000 UNIONISTS MARK LABOR DAY AT TWO OUTINGS

More than 20,000 members of the American Federation of Labor and of the Congress of Industrial Organizations in northern Indiana celebrated Labor day in two separate outings yesterday. The AFL met in Crown Point while the CIO gathered in Gary.

W. T. Schulte, Democratic congressman from Indiana, spoke at the CIO picnic. He said he would vigorously oppose American intervention in the war on the ground that "it is not our business to send our soldiers overseas." At the same time he expressed full support of President Roosevelt's foreign policy with the exception of the Russian element. He asserted Russia should be destroyed along with Germany and Italy.

Other speakers at the CIO outing were Mayor E. L. Schaible of Gary, Mayor Vincent Youkey of Crown Point, O. A. Knight of Fort Worth, Tex., president of the International Oil Workers' union, and Walter Frisbie of Indianapolis, secretary of the Indiana Industrial union council.

UNTRAINED AEF NO HELP, SAYS BRITISH EXPERT

Observer Calls Troops Two Years Behind.

BY CLAY GOWRAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Second Army Headquarters, Prescott, Ark., Sept. 1.—An American expeditionary force would be of no help to Britain at this stage of her war against Germany unless such a force could be composed of thoroly trained, completely equipped troops.

This was the opinion expressed tonight by Maj. H. R. B. Foote, a veteran officer of the British royal armored corps. Maj. Foote, is one of a party of 18 British officers who arrived in the United States two weeks ago to act as official observers at the Arkansas-Louisiana war games.

Maj. Foote and two other officers of the party, Maj. K. H. Lloyd-King and Maj. the Viscount Knebworth, both of the armored corps, reached the maneuver area this afternoon.

Compared to British in 1939.

"From what I've seen of the American army in the tour we've made of the service schools, etc., since we arrived, I would say that it is in about the same stage, as regards equipment and training as the British army was at the beginning of the war," Maj. Foote declared. "And an expeditionary force would do us no good unless it could be fully equipped.

"Otherwise, it would be like we were at the outbreak," continued Maj. Foote. "We know how awful it is to be untrained, and lacking in guns and every other type of equipment.

"For 10 years before the war began we had been playing in sham battles with dummy guns because we were lacking," said Maj. Foote. "Then suddenly, we were faced with a real war and an enemy with real guns. So we know."

Two Attitudes in Britain.

Questioned about the attitude of his country toward the United States, Maj. Foote declared that there were two distinct attitudes on this subject in England.

"The attitude of the civilian population is that America should send more equipment to us than it now is sending," said Maj. Foote. "On the other hand, we of the army believe that it is truly amazing that you can help us so much when your own military needs are so great, and believe us, we appreciate it."

PARENTS LOCATE DAUGHTER AFTER SHOOTING SCRAPE

Miss Ruth Virginia Duncan, 21 years old, who was shot and seriously wounded Sunday in her apartment at 426 Surf street, was found by her parents yesterday after a two years' search. Her father, Norman Duncan of St. Louis, Mo., and his wife, the Rev. Belvia Duncan, came to Chicago after learning of the shooting from police.

Duncan said he had started a search for his daughter when she disappeared two years ago and had appealed to newspapers and radio stations for assistance. Those efforts were unavailing, however.

Miss Duncan is in Columbus Memorial hospital, where physicians hold little hope for her recovery. The bullet entered her left temple and penetrated the brain.

Joseph Hale, 31 years old and an exconvict, who was found in Miss Duncan's room by police, told Sergt. William Higgins that he met her in St. Louis eight months ago and that they subsequently came to Chicago. He said that they were tussling for the revolver when it was discharged accidentally.

50,000 TROOPS GET PAY BUT CAN'T FIND PLACE TO SPEND IT

With the Second Army, Camden, Ark., Sept. 1.—This little city of Camden, with a population of less than 10,000, is the center of an area in which more than 50,000 soldiers in maneuvers are bivouaced.

Yesterday was pay day for the men of Lieut. Gen. Ben Lear's 2d army, and both yesterday and today were holidays for them. Long before noon yesterday little Camden was jammed with probably 30,000 men, three times its population, all with money burning their pockets. Other hundreds arrived by the minute.

Camden just couldn't accommodate its eager guests.

Soldiers tried to get into one of the four little movie theaters and found hundreds of other soldiers waiting in block long lines at the ticket offices. They tried to buy a meal, as a change from army mess, and found restaurants either jammed or sold out to the walls. They tried drug stores and confectioneries—the same story. Ice cream, candies, fruits—all gone. In the other towns of the area it was the same story.

U. S. NAVY SAILOR SEES THE WORLD ON FULL STOMACH

Newest Battleship Has a Modern Galley.

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Sept. 1.—Back on land, after being a guest on the shakedown cruise of the newest United States battleship, the 35,000 ton North Carolina, one can find many things less comfortable and modern than the sailors enjoy aboard the navy's pride.

Life aboard the North Carolina is one of almost continuous activity, but even tho many of them work 12 hours a day, the crewmen seem to enjoy every minute of it. Morale is much better in the navy, as a whole, than in the army, and aboard the North Carolina this is especially so.

About 45 per cent of the personnel —1,400 men, besides officers—have been in the service less than a year and still are under 21 years of age.

Fine Hospital Equipment.

Aboard the North Carolina is a modern hospital. It is manned by three doctors and two dentists, under the supervision of Dr. J. K. Gordon of Sparta, Ill.

This modernistic "sick bay" includes a four room operating suite, laboratory, X-ray rooms, dispensary, isolation ward, dietitian's kitchen, and 18 comfortable rooms for patients.

Dr. Gordon said that the number of venereal cases aboard the North Carolina is surprisingly low. Combating such ailments has improved wonderfully since World war times, said Dr. Gordon. The incidence is about 70 per cent below the figures of 1917 and 1918. No alcoholic drinks are allowed aboard.

Sailors Well Fed.

Sailors are fed better today than ever before, and Uncle Sam's tars always have been the envy of other fighting men afloat. Chief Commissary Steward Elza R. Flowers of Shelbyville, Ill., showed us the spotless, labor saving galley. Dishwashing no longer is a chore aboard ship.

In the bakery we saw nine men working at high speed to produce daily 680 loaves of bread, more than 1,000 rolls, and 322 pies. The average cost of feeding the North Carolina's crew is 41 cents per day for each man, but sometimes this rises to 49 cents, Flowers said.

One of the days we were aboard chicken was served all hands, and we saw 380 fowls go into the stainless steel pots.

The meal included these other items, which any housewife might compare with her own weekly shopping list:

Flour for giblet gravy	70 pounds
Sweet potatoes	1,200 pounds
Molasses for same	6 gallons
Oranges	80 pounds
Canned asparagus	320 pounds
Pickles	25 gallons
Ripe olives	20 gallons
Lettuce	400 pounds
Tomatoes	800 pounds

Men aboard this modern battleship are served in a modern way—cafeteria style. This cuts down the cost of serving the men, and the saving is put into better food. Any man can go back for second or third helpings.

WISCONSIN FOLK VOICE AN IDEA ON WAR—STAY OUT!

Farmers, Prospering and Busy, Want Peace.

Marcia Winn, Tribune reporter who recently wrote a series of articles on the war hysteria in Washington and New York, has seen and talked to middle west farmers and their wives on the same subject. The following story is another one in her series:

BY MARCIA WINN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., Sept. 1.—Wisconsin, its rolling, fat farm lands the seat of a 3½ billion dollar dairy industry, is rolling now in the contentment of a fat farm year. Remote from war are the minds and activities of its farmers.

Seen 10 days ago at Wisconsin's great state fair here, the farmers were in jubilant mood. Prices are good; so are crops. Butter, eggs, cream, and milk are up, and the corn crop looks lush. As the farmers stride along, usually accompanied by a string of tanned children, they seem far more prosperous than the farmers of Iowa, Missouri, or southern Illinois. Rarely does one appear in overalls or work clothes; they are out in store suits and ties.

The farm women are so well dressed and well groomed it is hard to distinguish them from city women. Usually the line of demarcation comes in crow's feet around the eyes; farm women, more given to scanning the horizon, have networks of kindly wrinkles.

What Do They Think?

What do they think of war?

A farm wife from near the Illinois line sits tranquilly beside the quilt exhibit. Her pink dress is neat, becoming, well made. Her hair seems scoured to her head. She talks quietly as the noisy crowds saunter past:

"We dread to see it [war] come. Of course, I have three sons. That's one reason I don't think we ought to get into it. Two are in the draft, and the third will be 21 in October. "All the people I know went thru the last war, and they all feel about the same. They don't like to see it again. Not everybody thinks we'll get in; it's about 50-50."

A Busy Woman Speaks Up.

On a bench near the giant drum cheese exhibit sits a gay little woman with a cane. She chats amiably as she washes down her homemade sandwiches with a mug of hot coffee:

"I tell you, I was born on the farm, lived 38 years of my life on it, and then lived in Chicago 25 years. Then I came back, and now I'm there three years again. I'll be 66 in October, and I never got married in my life, but I helped raise two brothers.

"We live near Racine, my brothers and I, and I operate the roadside stand for their truck garden . . . War news? Why, I tell you, we're too busy outside the house all summer to listen to that radio. I don't hear people talk much. They are undecided about war. They don't know what it's coming to."

Over in the hall of honey the wife of a Cedarburg beekeeper left her shelves of amber sweetness to discuss the war. She says things are very quiet around Cedarburg. Last winter she took a trip to Detroit and when she got home, she says, it was good to be back where she could think quietly.

"Of course we go to market twice a week and hear it then," she adds, "but the people don't seem to be so excited here. They take things as they come. Me, I don't like war. Nobody does. I think we should stay out of it. When you talk like that in company most of them say: 'Take care of America.' I don't know. It's a hard thing to talk about."

Tells of Rising Prices.

A middle aged woman with sad, deep set eyes, and hands folded patiently in her blue silk lap sits waiting for her husband. They farm 84¼ acres near Almond in Portage county. They have nine dairy cows, 20 pigs, and 250 chickens; the chickens pay for the groceries. The corn crop is the best in years, but their 10 acres of potatoes are a worry; so many of the potatoes this year are scabby.

"Everything is going up where it is real high," she says. "Bread we paid 10 cents a loaf for just a week ago is 14 cents a loaf now. I quit baking thru this hot weather because that germ got in to make it ropy bread, but I'll have to start again now.

"Eggs are a good price, 25 cents a dozen, and butter is higher, but they're going to quit taking in cream. They're going to buy just whole milk to make it into cheese and send the cheese and whey over to England.

"The war? . . . It's everywhere, this war. I have two boys of the draft age. People think we should stay out. Our President promised to keep us out. He should. If the others want to fight across, let them do it. Old Hitler and all the others. But most peoples think we'll get in before it's over. Some think before a great while."

Here her husband arrived. "Think we ought to get in the war, Al?" she asks him.

"Do not," he answers laconically.

"You know," she continues, "way down in the bottom of my heart, I don't think our President is trying to keep us out."

RESIGNED ARMY PILOTS MAY FLY FERRY TO AFRICA

Report Government Has Agreed to Plan.

Washington, D. C., Sept. 1.—Army flyers released from military service and holding the status of civilians, it was learned today, probably will help Pan-American airways operate its new plane ferry and air transport service across the Atlantic ocean and Africa to British forces in the near east.

While official sources were silent on such a possibility, well informed quarters indicated that arrangements already are being made to permit army pilots to resign from the service and join the Pan-American staff.

President Reveals Plan.

President Roosevelt announced two weeks ago, immediately after returning from his conferences at sea with Prime Minister Winston Churchill, that Pan-American would undertake the task of ferrying planes and transporting plane parts to the near east.

This work will require a large number of pilots and co-pilots as well as technical experts and ground crews at bases on the African west coast and inland.

Aside from the general purpose of helping Britain, informed quarters said there would be at least two incidental benefits to this country from permitting army flyers to resign and aid in the ferry service to the near east.

Development of Bases.

One is the strategical advantage of manning plane bases on the west African coast and in the interior with Americans capable of combatting a Nazi move into the French west African port of Dakar. German occupation of this port has long been pictured by officials here as a possible first step in a Nazi move on South America.

Another benefit, it was said, would be to give young American flyers, now being turned out of training schools at the rate of more than 12,000 a year, invaluable practical experience as copilots of multi-motored ships and pilots of smaller planes.

Army pilot training is running ahead of its plane acquisitions because of the large number of combat craft being turned over to Britain.

W-G-N AUDIENCE GETS KICK OUT OF FOOTBALL STAR

Even Tom Harmon, Michigan's great football player, couldn't kick a field goal in the imaginary football game aired over W-G-N and the Mutual network at 9:30 o'clock last night in the hilarious "Affairs of Tom, Dick, and Harry."

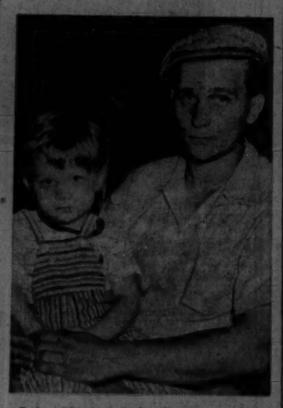
Of course, Harmon wasn't imaginary. He appeared on the program in person, receiving a great welcome from the capacity W-G-N studio audience. But Harmon couldn't kick the imaginary field goal because his imaginary teammate, "Tom" of the noted radio trio, wouldn't let go of the imaginary football.

Also appearing on the program were the King Sisters, four beautiful girls with four beautiful voices, who sang their latest recording, "Love Me a Little Little." Like Harmon, they made a hit with the audience. Lew Trendler and the W-G-N orchestra furnished the musical background. Ed Allen announced. Production was in charge of William A. Bacher.

Father Confesses

[TRIBUNE Photos.]

Mrs. Martha Michalek with daughter, Janet, after husband was arrested on charge of beating girl.



John Michalek in Englewood police station with son, George, 2 years old.

A young father confessed to the Englewood police yesterday that he slapped and bruised his 9 months old daughter when she cried and annoyed him. He is John Michalak, 27 years old, of 6457 Eggleston avenue, a cement worker. Besides his baby daughter, Janet, he has a son, George, 2.

Michalak was arrested by Sergt. James Oakey and Policewoman Dorothy Tedell when neighbors complained. He told Lieut. Thomas O'Donnell that he lost his temper when the child cried. Police said that bruises were visible on the baby's face and throat.

Mrs. Martha Michalak, the baby's mother, said that she could not restrain her husband. A half dozen neighbors told the police that they were willing to testify as witnesses when the father is arraigned in the Domestic Relations court today. Policewoman Tedell requested the juvenile authorities to investigate.

SOLDIERS' FIELD BULL'S VICTIMS ARE IMPROVING

Four persons who were injured when a huge Brahma bull charged thru a holiday throng near the Shedd aquarium Sunday were reported improving in St. Luke's hospital yesterday. Several others were bruised and slightly injured by the bull, but went to their homes after being treated at the hospital.

The bull escaped from his handlers at the Soldiers' field rodeo and spread terror in the holiday crowd for a quarter of an hour. He was not subdued until felled by bullets from police revolvers and shotguns. Park authorities began an investigation.

Those recovering in the hospital are Mrs. Pearl Raminis, 55 years old, 2511 North Halsted street; Mrs. Mary Farah, 28, of Indianapolis, Ind., and Sergt. Ralph Riley and Policeman James McCormick of the park police.

60 DAY OUTPUT IS 26 BOMBERS, BYRD DISCLOSES

Repeats His Charges of Defense Bungling.

BY CHESLY MANLY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
Washington, D. C., Sept. 1.—Reiterating his contention that the Roosevelt administration has bungled the nation's preparedness program, Senator Harry F. Byrd [D., Va.], revealed in a radio speech tonight that the production of heavy bombing planes was only 12 in June and 14 in July.

Senator Byrd.

The production of combat planes of all kinds, the senator said, "is the most glaring and conspicuous failure of our government in our preparedness program" and "calls for such drastic action as may be necessary to remedy this failure." He expressed little hope that President Roosevelt's new seven man super board will remedy the failure.

"One man, the ablest citizen in America, can do a better job in executive management than a seven man board superimposed on other boards," Senator Byrd said. "Let us have a procurement director for all military supplies with the power to act."

Has Proof of Figures.

In a senate speech on Aug. 19, which provoked President Roosevelt's charge that some one had sold Byrd "down the river" with false figures, Senator Byrd stated that 60 heavy, four engined bombers were produced in July. "Now I have positive, indisputable proof of the production of 12 in June and 14 in July," the senator said tonight.

His statement that only 1,460 planes were produced in July and only 700 of these were combat planes was not disputed by President Roosevelt, Senator Byrd noted.

"But more significant than this was the number of the most effective types of planes produced," he said.

"The great need of England today is four-engine, heavy bombers. Heavy bombers can be flown to England and avoid the perils of boat shipment as is the case of other planes. Heavy bombers in quantities in England today in the hands of the Royal Air Force would permit the wholesale bombing of Germany while Germany is engaged in her struggle with Russia.

Calls It Major Failure.

"Only 14 four-engine, heavy bombers were produced in the United States in July. Fourteen heavy bombers per month is a far cry from the 500 the President asked for. It is a production failure of the first magnitude. Only 12 were produced in June, while 21 were produced in April, so the production has actually declined. In July only 95 medium bombers were produced and 243 light bombers."

Senator Byrd said the figures he presented to the senate were obtained from "one of the very highest responsible government sources." The fact that Mr. Roosevelt "received somewhat conflicting figures from another source, he said, "indicates again the confusion that now exists in Washington with respect to our preparedness program."

The senator insisted that the people of the United States are entitled to know the facts of the preparedness program, the ultimate cost of which he estimated at 100 billion dollars.

Senator Byrd said he spoke as a consistent supporter "up to this time" of the foreign policies of the administration, as an advocate of all possible material assistance to England, and as an opponent of active participation in the European war.

"In my judgment it would be an act of utter folly to become a voluntary shooting participant in the European conflict in our present state of unpreparedness," he said.

Seize Brothers; Accuse Them of Being Bandits

William Mohlman, 21 years old, and his brother, Charles, 18, both of 617 North Dearborn street, were arrested by Central police yesterday and accused of being bandits. According to Detectives Eugene Steinway and Samuel Pettigrew the Mohlmans admitted one holdup and four petty thefts which netted them a total of $150.

QUOTING ABRAHAM LINCOLN

Power to Make War at Pleasure.

"Allow the President to invade a neighboring nation whenever he shall deem it necessary to repel an invasion, and you allow him to do so whenever he may choose to say he deems it necessary for such purpose, and you allow him to make war at pleasure. . . . If today he should choose to say he thinks it necessary to invade Canada to prevent the British from invading us, how would you stop him? You may say to him, 'I see no probability of the British invading us'; but he will say to you, 'Be silent; I see it, if you don't.'"

A. Lincoln

Herndon Letter, Feb. 15, 1848.

MR. ROOSEVELT TALKS ABOUT UNITY.

Once again, this time in his Labor day address, Mr. Roosevelt committed himself to America's participation in the war as an active belligerent. "We shall do everything in our power to crush Hitler and his Nazi forces" was the formula he employed. That statement of his policy, he said, was the expression of the "conscience of the American people."

Mr. Roosevelt uses the word conscience, but there is little evidence to suggest that he knows what it means. He obtained his first election on the pledge to reduce government expenditures by 25 per cent. He broke that promise and his conscience didn't trouble him then or after any of his numerous other breaches of faith.

In 1940 he promised the American people that their sons would not be sent to the slaughter in Europe. Our aid to Britain was to be short of war. The repeal of the neutrality law, the enactment of the lend-lease law, conscription, and the extension of the draft were all calculated to keep us out of the war, or so he pretended. Now it is "everything in our power to crush Hitler."

That means that, if he gets his way, we send an expeditionary force to Europe because Russia can't do the job alone and Britain refuses to move against Hitler without active American support. Under our constitution the power to declare war belongs to congress, but Mr. Roosevelt and his conscience aren't troubled by a little thing like an oath to support and defend the constitution. He is taking the war making power into his own hands. Congress wasn't consulted before he sent the marines into the war zone in Iceland, nor was congress consulted before Mr. Roosevelt made his latest pronouncement.

The American people, says Mr. Roosevelt in the Labor day address, are a unit in support of his program. The truth is that every time the American people have had a chance to express themselves on questions of foreign policy they have voted overwhelmingly against such involvements in Europe as Mr. Roosevelt has determined upon. The people still feel the same way about it, as they showed only last Friday in the crushing defeat of Mr. Roosevelt's war candidate in the Wisconsin by-election.

If Mr. Roosevelt reads nothing but interventionist journals he and his conscience know that the American people, far from being unified in his support, are by huge majorities against him. The interventionist magazine Life told him a few weeks ago that the morale in the army is deplorably low. The men in the army are not for war. This week the same magazine tells him that Congressman Robert A. Grant of the 3d Indiana district [South Bend] returned to his constituency after voting against the extension of the draft to find his people were overwhelmingly with him and against the administration. The reporter who toured the district with Mr. Grant found the people "reluctant, resentful, disunited, distrustful, deeply confused, deeply uneasy about what the President is up to. . . . They say the east is hysterical. Most of them heartily supported their congressman's vote."

That is what civilians are thinking in a district which is booming with war orders. Mr. Roosevelt can find what the men in the army think about him and his policies by reading the Nation, another interventionist paper. In this week's issue is found an article by Mr. Harold Lavine, who in the course of ten days interviewed 352 soldiers in the vicinity of Times square, New York. It was a good cross-section of the army. Some of the soldiers came from camps in the vicinity of New York; others had come home to New York on leave from distant camps. The conscripts and guardsmen were all but unanimous in denouncing the Roosevelt foreign policy. Many threatened to desert.

"This isn't cheerful news for readers of the Nation," says Mr. Lavine. "I must add that many of the recruits considered Adolf Hitler far less their enemy than Franklin D. Roosevelt.

If labor were anything like united in support of Mr. Roosevelt's war there would have been no such epidemic of strikes as this country has seen in recent months and Mr. Roosevelt would not have felt obliged to plead with labor for support as he did yesterday. The agricultural areas of the country are against intervention, as the vote of their congressmen on draft extension shows. A recent Kiplinger letter noted that business men as a class are cool toward war. Business is said to be coöperating, but without enthusiasm.

In his address Mr. Roosevelt intimated that "American workers and American farmers, American business men and American churchmen" are with him. That is no more true of the churchmen than it is of the others. The leaders of religious opinion in this country do not regard Stalin and his atheism with admiration. Far from having a country unified in support of his war, Mr. Roosevelt appears to have a country and an army which are almost solidly opposed to his interventionist schemes and ambitions.

OUR ALLIANCE WITH BARBARISM.

At a luncheon given in London by the Russian ambassador, Ivan Maisky, one of the Russian terrorists, Mr. Churchill, our ambassador, Mr. Winant, Foreign Secretary Eden, and others discussed methods of getting supplies to Stalin. It is announced that W. Averell Harriman will head the American delegation to Moscow and it is thought that Lord Beaverbrook, British minister of supply, will be chairman of the British mission.

If the United States were in the British position, two years deep in a desperate war, we might feel that we had to close our eyes to the monstrosities of the Russian régime, to its very recent oppression of small peoples exposed to it by war, and to the frightfulness of a peace which Stalin could dictate. We might reason that we must take our chances with the future in one direction in order to defeat the formidable enemy which constituted our immediate danger.

The choice would be a hard one, but if our government were in the shoes of the British government and our country engaged at close quarters with a mighty military machine which had overrun all our neighbors and was at our door, we might be forced to say that we must do everything we could to help the enemy which was weaker against the enemy which was stronger. Wise people might not care to think of what would happen later, but they might also feel that immediate necessity drove them.

We are in no such position. A national emergency does not require that an American mission go to the bloody Kremlin to consider the needs of the greatest barbarian of modern times. We are not required by our national interests or our national dangers to join hands with a system of government which professes undying contempt for everything we regard as necessary in our way of living and plans unremitting and unrelenting warfare against such people as constitute the American nation.

The fact that two brutes are at each other's throat would prompt the hope that they might destroy each other, but it doesn't excuse our support of one of them. The communist régime has obliterated every freedom of which we talk. It denounces religion and oppresses it. It prevents freedom of speech and opinion. It liquidated the classes it hated and killed their people by the millions.

Until this new war broke out on Sunday, June 22—as recently as that—Russia was terrorizing the people of small neighboring countries which it had overrun. It was literally extinguishing everything they had of value, both material and spiritual. The soviets were destroying the peoples for whom we have natural sympathies and with whom we have common ideas. Goods we send to Russia and the aid we give Stalin are intended, if effective, to put the commissars back in the lands they ravished. In doing this we degrade our own principles and betray both our own ideals and other people who trusted us.

Within two weeks there is to be published in New York a book called "Finland Reveals Her Secret Documents." The text has been sent by radio and the American edition is being rushed to publication. There is a preface by H. J. Procope, the Finnish minister to the United States, who in 1940, when Russia was fighting his country to despoil it, was a most popular person in this country, representing a gallant nation fighting for its freedom and for the liberties which we cherish.

Mr. Procope in his foreword says that the documents present a picture of a "big, burly and uncompromisingly belligerent neighbor ceaselessly outraging the little fellow next door" during the period of what is called "an ordeal of peace." The book is a compilation of diplomatic conversations and documents showing how the power politics of the Reds work. It may throw a clearer light upon the actions of our government in making a treaty with a tyrant.

HOW TO WIN A WAR.

The Germans, as is well known, borrowed sound military ideas wherever they could find them. Much of their technique in attack they took from the Frenchman, De Gaulle, as any one who will trouble to read his treatises can discover for himself. No doubt the Germans learned a good deal from our Gen. Mitchell, also. The difference between the German army and all other armies in the world today is symbolized by these two men. In all the other armies the De Gaulles and Billy Mitchells are resented as trouble makers. Their proposed innovations are resisted because the old dogs don't want to or can't learn the new tricks. In the German army the De Gaulles are promoted, and it is the routineers and the incompetent who get the bum's rush.

We don't think it is a blind chauvinism which leads Americans to the belief that the young men of our country are potentially better soldiers than any other nation can produce. Our young men, by and large, are physically stronger, mentally more alert, and certainly more accustomed to the handling of automotive machinery than are the young men of Germany or any other large country. We have nothing to fear if we will only free our armed forces from the control of elderly men who are living in the past and think that the art of war today is scarcely different from what it was in Napoleon's or, at the latest, Foch's day.

URBANITY IN ST. LOUIS.
[St. Louis Post-Dispatch.]

We have always maintained that St. Louis is one of the most civilized and urbane places in the world. Note, for example, how kindly we treat our weather men. Prof. Walter J. Moxom, who has just put on a heat wave that would have fried a Hottentot, is honored by a testimonial dinner as he prepares to leave for his new post in New York, and his face, beaming with smiles, appears in the public prints. Dr. Roscoe Nunn, who dispensed some very atrocious weather before Prof. Moxom came, is living among us in peaceful retirement, reading his books and tending his flowers, never the target of the vindictive glance or the muttered imprecation that should be his lot. And, of course, if we ever got a weather man who would supply us with a Cape Cod summer, we'd give him a monument right in the middle of Memorial Plaza.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may. Reg. U. S. Pat. Office

AFTER THE LONG WEEK-END.

To continue research into the mystery of the hat that Winston Churchill gave to Harry Hopkins: Operatives in London assure us that it could not have been one of Winston's own hats. The prime minister has an exceptionally large head, and the chances that his hat would fit the lean and hungry-looking Hopkins are about zero. Mr. Churchill has all his hats made to order, and the bowler type in which he is most often depicted is of his own design. The crown is higher than that of the standard bowler and the brim wider.

Made-to-order hats are an old English custom. Ditto for shoes—or should we say "boots"? The American who wears made-to-order shoes is an exceedingly rare bird; the American who wears made-to-order hats is practically nonexistent.

In the aftermath of Arch Ward's football fiesta on Soldiers' field, we wish to remark that this great arena is a hard place to reach for any one who wishes to avoid the congestions of motor traffic. From the footbridges at 11th and 18th streets you will walk close to a mile by the time you have reached your seat. Footbridges at 14th and 16th streets are a crying need. They would provide access to transportation by Michigan avenue buses, the Wabash avenue and State street car lines, and the elevated.

Thorn apples are ripe. They are the berries of the red haw [we think], a shrubby affair much used in park planting. The small boys of the Linemaster's generation regarded them as edible, but they require much patient gnawing and nibbling.

School again!
Under teacher's rule again.
Readin', writin', 'rithmetic and spellin'—
Seems like a week ago we were yellin'

Now we're gettin' those "saucy looks."

School again!
No more swimmin' pool again
For another year.
No more hayrick rides and such;
Every time we wiggle now we get in dutch.
O! I've got those School Again blues!

Lincoln's Finest Medal.

Possibly one of the most valuable medals of Lincoln, as well as one of the most beautiful medallic memorials ever made, served as a tribute to Abraham Lincoln from 40,000 French people. The gifts financing the medal were limited to two cents to each person. The gold medal was sent to Mrs. Lincoln shortly after Mr. Lincoln's death. The following letter accompanied the medal:

"Paris, Oct. 13, 1866.

"Madam: We have been charged with the duty of presenting to you the medal in honor of the great and honest man whose name you bear, and which 40,000 French citizens have caused to be struck, with a desire to express their sympathy for the American Union, in the person of one of its most illustrious and purest representatives. If France possessed the liberty enjoyed by Republican America, we would number with us not merely thousands but millions of the admirers of Lincoln, and of the partisans of those opinions to which he devoted his life and which are consecrated by his death."

THE DEEP-SEA FISH.

If I could have my fondest wish,
I'd ask to be a deep-sea fish;
With dignity I'd swim the sound,
Without a fear of being drowned,
And glide to bolder, bluer seas.
Starfish and sea anemones
Would be my friends; our world would be Dimensioned only by the sea;
And battleships at will could roam
Like toys above our coral home.

"Woodbine" mentioned by Shakespeare? [Aug. 23]. I'll go you one classic better and find it in Chaucer [d. 1400]. See his "Troilus and Criseyde," book 3, lines 1230-1233:

And as aboute a tre, with many a twiste,

WHY PORK SHOULD BE WELL DONE.

WHEN we realize that 10 to 20 per cent of our entire population is infected with pork worm [Trichinella spiralis], we can agree with Shakespeare's sentiment:

"The fault, dear Brutus, is not in our stars,
But in ourselves."

Not a single case could exist if we would learn the lesson that pig meat of all types must be cooked thoroly.

The parasite occurs in a small percentage of swine. When it is taken into the human stomach with food, it may cause a serious illness. As soon as the young larvae have matured sufficiently, they migrate thru the tissues and enter the blood stream. They are then carried to all parts of the body.

After reaching the muscles, they grow rapidly and—in the course of two or three weeks—they become enveloped in minute, lemon-shaped cysts, where they remain. Eventually, nature deposits lime about these "foreign bodies" and the invaders are permanently entombed.

But what happens in the meantime? The patient complains of symptoms which simulate influenza or the grippe, with intense pains in the muscles. An attack is severe or light, depending upon the number of the enemy. If only a few are swallowed, the suffering will be minimal. On the other hand, a heavy infestation may produce a violent toxemia. There are all sorts of digestive disturbances and fever may persist for several days.

During the period when the unwelcome guests are developing—nausea, vomiting, and watery diarrhea come on. Later, in the interval of "spread" [which begins about the 8th or 10th day], marked tenderness is exhibited particularly in the extremities, the calves of the legs, the muscles used in chewing, and in breathing [the diaphragm]. Occasionally, a rash will appear over the body and the temperature may reach 105 degrees F.

At this stage the malady is frequently mistaken for typhoid. The face is swollen, especially about the eyes, and breathing may become so difficult that the blood will not obtain enough oxygen.

As soon as the worms become encysted, convalescence or recovery begins. If the physician is careful to make a blood count, a striking increase in one variety of white cell [eosinophile] will be observed. In addition, skin tests are available and are diagnostic in a high percentage of cases.

The chances are, however, that many mild seizures go unrecognized. The patient may grumble about for a few days with aches and pains, together with some intestinal discomfort, and pass the whole matter off as "flu."

Sometimes several members of a family will be affected about the same time and in a similar manner. On such an occasion—suspecting the true nature of the disorder—the physician will promptly evacuate the digestive tract. This will sweep many of the "crawlers" away. But after the tissues have been penetrated, there is no plan under which they can be destroyed.

We should recall that pork worms are utterly harmless when dead. The only way we can kill them is by heat. Adequate roasting or boiling is required. The heat must penetrate to the very center of the fibers to be effective. Smoking or pickling alone may not be sufficient.

It is so easy to serve well done meats that there would seem to be no excuse whatsoever for failure to eradicate this loathsome disease. No one relishes the thought that his muscles may be entertaining a flock of parasites.

EAR POPPING.

N. P. writes: What causes the ears to click on swallowing or yawning?

REPLY.

In the process of swallowing, the gates of the Eustachian tubes open, permitting free access of outside air to the middle ear. The drum moves slightly, hence the "pop." If you close the mouth, hold the nose, and blow gently, the same effect will be produced.

COLD DRINKS.

M. B. writes: Do iced beverages aggravate an asthmatic condition?

REPLY.

A remote possibility, if one is sensitive to cold. Why not drink slowly, warming the liquid in the mouth before swallowing?

EXPORT BUSINESS AS USUAL.

Chicago, Aug. 29.—I note in the July 25 issue of "Commercial Motor," [London] the following, headed "Speeding Up Export Facilities":

"A new company, Groupage, Ltd., Universal House, Southwark Bridge, London, has been organized by Messrs Beck and Pollitzer of the same address to expedite export from the two ports, London and Liverpool, altho more ports may be included later.

"Normally, the need for individual exporters to comply with certain formalities, such as the preentry of goods, obtaining shipping permits, etc., and then the arrangements for transport, cause delays, and sailings are sometimes missed. The new concern will relieve exporters of most of these difficulties, and they will merely have to deliver to the depot in London when the company will make all other arrangements, sort out the goods and make them up into full loads for either port, also complete the necessary forms and obtain the permits.

"This scheme will assist greatly not only in speeding up exports but also in reducing the amount of road transport which would otherwise be needed."

WHAT SHORT STORY LACKS.

Chicago, Aug. 28.—Is there any value in the average novel or short story? They usually have a brief vogue and are forgotten. As an inspiration they are close to zero and usually are only entertainment. Yet they continue to appear in droves and have readers, too.

Many people cannot endure the artificiality of created characters and concocted situations. Only when a novel creates characters equal to real life is it successful in helping readers to understand more deeply.

A novelist can describe scenery quite well, but it is not possible for the mediocre writer to do human character so well that one must read him to learn more of human life itself. The difference between the first rate all-time classic novelist and the ephemeral variety is the measure of understanding of life they possess. The more sensitive and those most affected by humanity's wonder are likely to put forth great novels.

CARL PETERSON.

WEED OUT THE REDS.

Chicago, Aug. 29.—From a curbstone on a loop street, I watched a parade of communists carrying a banner plainly showing the hammer and sickle. I am a paid-up 1942 member of the American Legion and know that if we enter the "shooting war" my voice will be stilled for the duration.

I ask for a roll call of the "Illinois Reserve Militia" to weed out any communistic members who may happen to find a refuge therein.

We Americans happen to know they will be poor protectors of our churches, schools and homes in the event we have to serve our country.

FRANK P. MELVIN.

MR. ROOSEVELT'S EVASIONS.

Gary, Ind., Aug. 28.—At his Tuesday press conference the President refused to deny that lend-lease funds were being used to entertain British officialdom in Washington or that England was exporting steel and other materials while accepting gifts of the same materials from us. He heatedly said that such reports were part of a campaign to hinder the country's defense program.

Pressed further, he said that England was under contract before the lend-lease act was passed to deliver the steel to South American countries, implying that Britain faithfully observes the sanctity of her commitments. He was not asked if the contracts did not contain the universally customary clause exempting her from performance in the event of war; nor as to her attitude toward her solemn engagement to repay us the billions she borrowed 20 years ago.

As to squandering taxpayers' money for entertainment, it was dismissed with the flippant remark that he didn't believe it was so. He didn't believe that Alben W. Barkley was elected to the senate by the use of WPA money, either.

Perhaps there is much in the belief, constantly gaining more adherents, that Mr. Roosevelt is the "Kerensky of the revolution" in the hands of a determined group of Marxists and others with oriental slants of mind, now surrounding him. HEN PECK.

MOTHER OF AVIATOR WRITES.

Hinsdale, Ill., Aug. 29.—My husband and I received a letter from the Southwest Aviation conference in Kansas City asking us for our son's sake to bring pressure on congress to take steps to stop interference with the manufacture of munitions.

I replied: "I don't see how it is helping our sons to give all new equipment to foreign nations; if you will use your energies to divert some of it to our own boys for training, I will gladly join you. To me, exacting tribute from American taxpayers to finance hereditary wars of foreign powers is treason."

And then I received a letter that left no doubt of their affiliation. They said: "You've been listening to isolationists. The British, the Russians, the 'Free French,' the Chinese, are fighting our common enemy. It is law now to aid Britain."

Now if any parents of boys in the air force thought they were coöperating with people whose interest was America First, and actually did volunteer to go along with Southwest Aviation conference, it is not too late to rectify their error.

MY SON AND AMERICA FIRST.

ROOSEVELT AND LINCOLN.

Chicago, Aug. 28.—Won't people who find such a striking comparison between Roosevelt and Lincoln please tell us where it can be found? I think they are direct opposites.

Can you find anywhere in history where Lincoln hobnobbed with British royalty?

Did Lincoln ever hold secret meetings with foreign "war lords"?

Did Lincoln ever welcome or go about seeking foreign entanglements?

THE LITTLE WOMAN'S HUNCH.

Chicago, Aug. 29.—Friend husband says women don't know anything about politics. But the "little woman" wonders if women don't have a bit of understanding about human nature and the like.

When the Republican candidate's tousled head last year first popped into the papers out of a politically unknown wilderness, the little woman said: "He looks hard-boiled to me." "O, he's a big man, the boss says so," said friend husband.

When the Republican convention went swinging along, the little woman peeped. "Looks to me as if the war party is railroading that fellow Willkie in." "Nothing of the sort," retorted husband, "that fellow is a strong man with a strong will of his own; he'll tell 'em."

When the campaign talks were rife and the "Republican" candidate didn't come out with what every mother wanted to hear, wifey said, "Looks to me as if that fellow is already in bed with the war mongers." Friend husband bellowed: "Now don't you say that when any of the fellows of the shop come around. They'll laugh at you."

When friend husband was devouring THE TRIBUNE at his breakfast this morning and wifey pointed out "Reveal Willkie director of shipyard company," said husband just went on devouring bacon and eggs.

AMANDA MCGREGOR SMITH.

INDORSE DAY RESOLUTION.

St. Paul, Minn., Aug. 29.—We have sent a letter of indorsement to Congressman Stephen A. Day regarding the resolution he is presenting to congress to end the lease-lend law. The majority of the people are against the high handed methods that have been used, in direct opposition to our constitution, to entangle our country in foreign wars.

The honest-to-God Americans are not going to lie down and let the atheistic communists take this country away from them. IRENE M. HUDSON.

JUDGMENT NOTE.

Chicago, Aug. 28.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I have in my possession a judgment note in the amount of $130 signed by the "borrower." The only security this person has is property—a house. I think it advisable to attach a lien to this property until the above amount is returned since this is my only protection. Could you give me an idea of what the usual charges of such an accommodation might be? F. S.

The note is probably so worded as to authorize the inclusion of attorney's fees in the judgment. You might be able to find an attorney who would accept the employment in reliance on collecting from the defendant. This would depend in part on your information as to the defendant's assets or income. The best way to find out what terms you can negotiate with an attorney is to shop around.

ADOLF'S DESTINATION

Western Mail & South Wales News.]

YOUR NEIGHBOR: WORLD'S BIGGEST EXPLOSIVE PLANT

It's Less than Fifty Miles Away from the Loop.

Less than 50 miles from the loop, loaded bombs and shells are rolling off the assembly lines of the world's largest shell loading plant—the Elwood ordnance works.

At present two of the four eventual production lines are in operation converting empty steel casings into explosive-packed 155 millimeter shells and 300 pound aerial demolition bombs.

When the other two lines go into action, the plant will load nearly every type of death dealing instrument from delayed action armor piercing anti-tank shells to 2,000 pound aerial bombs, according to Lieut. Col. T. C. Gerber, commanding officer.

Big Explosives Plant.

Across alternate highway 66 to the west of the Elwood plant, thousands of workmen are pushing to completion the Kankakee ordnance works, where nearly 200 million pounds of explosives will be manufactured each year.

The two plants are being built at a cost of 80 million dollars. They occupy 65 square miles about 16 miles south of Joliet in Will county.

About a year ago the government first announced its plan to build the Wilmington Munition works, as the entire project is known. Farmers in the area were bought out and moved.

On Nov. 20, 1940, construction was started.

Figures Tell Size.

Figures released by the army indicate the size of the project. Nearly 1,000 buildings dot the area. In the Elwood plant alone—which is the smaller of the two—there are 90 miles of railroad track, 85 miles of paved roads, and 56 miles of 10 foot steel mesh fence. It will take 8,265 workmen to operate the plant on three shifts.

Newspapermen were taken on a tour of the assembly lines and shown the step by step process of loading the bombs and shells.

Col. Gerber emphasized that all of the buildings are constructed with safety as the prime object—a kind of second-hand safety, however, since its secondary object is to keep a single explosion from setting off a series of blasts.

Set Far Apart.

All buildings are set far apart. There are limits on the quantity of explosives that can be concentrated in any one spot. Master emergency controls are provided that shut off the power thruout each building.

The workmen are never allowed to forget they are dealing with high explosives, temperamental substances which will not stand abuse.

But several other factors serve to keep the atmosphere from being congenial. Most of the walls of the buildings are constructed of corrugated asbestos—fireproof, easy to replace, and it offers little resistance to an explosion.

Automatic sprinklers are set to function when the heat becomes too intense where the explosives are melted before they are put into the shells and bombs. Large bombproof shelters, built to hold from 60 to 70 men each, are located near each building.

When an electrical storm is imminent, the workmen retire to the shelters. Escape chutes lead from each building to the ground, providing a comparatively rapid means of escape.

WOMAN DOZES WITH CIGARET; DIES OF BURNS

Mrs. Esther Lagerhausen, 37 years old, was burned to death yesterday in her home at 467 North Lee street, Des Plaines, when she apparently fell asleep while smoking a cigaret. She was found by her husband, George, and a daughter, Georgianna, as they returned home from the Soldiers' Field rodeo.

A neighbor, Mrs. A. C. Korsgard, 528 Des Plaines avenue, told police she had called on Mrs. Lagerhausen shortly before her husband returned and found her asleep in a chair. Police think the victim awakened, lighted a cigaret, and fell asleep once more. The chair was smoldering and smoke pouring from the house when Lagerhausen came home.

Lagerhausen is owner, with a brother, Walter, of the Lagerhausen Lumber and Coal company in Des Plaines.

500,000 DRIVERS JAM ROADS AND BREAK A RECORD

Highways Overtaxed Once Again.

BY HAL FOUST.

A half million automobiles were on the highways of Chicagoland yesterday. The homeward movement in the late afternoon and evening taxed pavement capacities and emphasized weaknesses in the metropolitan road system.

Police reckoned traffic volumes as an all-time record. It was a climactic conclusion to a summer travel season that exceeded the 1940 previous high for the quantity of gasoline burned for recreation.

The Chicago bound traffic, returning from a day's outing or from a three days' vacation, encountered congestion far from the city limits. The four lane arterial routes radiating from the city do not extend far enough. On the two lane extensions, drivers were bunched in strings of from six to 60, delayed and annoyed by the hazards of passing.

Bumper to Bumper Bunches.

The bumper to bumper bunches cluttered the narrow slab on Rand road northwest of Lake Zurich, on Northwest highway approaching Barrington, on the Lake street highway west of Elgin, and on North avenue west of St. Charles. On ordinary week days the traffic count of these pavements exceeds the maximum for safety and convenience on a two lane road.

Much of the holiday traffic from the resorts of Wisconsin and northern Illinois, on entering the northwestern corner of the city, detoured for extra mileage so as to use the lake front boulevard to reach destinations within the city. The Outer drive was overloaded with traffic that didn't want to be there.

West side boulevards, scenes of work day rush hour jams, were crowded, but not so badly as during the intolerable twice a day blockades on ordinary days.

Survey Opens Tomorrow.

Tomorrow, 10,000 men and boys will be engaged in field survey to determine the inadequacies of the highway system for future corrections. It's what the engineers call an O-D tabulation. The origin and destination of the day's motor trips will be mapped to locate the heavy flows.

Maj. George A. Quinlan, Cook county highway superintendent, said that when the information is tabulated, in four or five weeks, it will form a guide for the location and capacity of superhighways into and within Chicago.

Illinois and Indiana state highway engineers and officials of Lake, Du Page, Will McHenry, and Kane as well as Cook county are coöperating. Boy Scouts and Sea Scouts will man counting stations distributed thruout this territory. Each will note license numbers of all passing cars. As a number is recorded from station to station, its path will be recorded.

Oil Executive Is Killed in Crash of Airplane

Houston, Tex., Sept. 1 (AP).—George F. Hamman, 27, vice president of the Hamman Oil & Refinery Co., and A. M. Monteith, 28, both of Houston, were killed today in a plane crash.

Nurses Are Sad

Louisville, Ky., Sept. 1—Louisville sadly bade farewell to four important guests Saturday—the Lashley quadruplets who were rushed here in weak condition last February from their Kentucky farm home.

Six months old, robust and alert, the quads, Martine, Mildred, Beulah, and John, were transported back to Leitchfield, Ky., in the same ambulance that once hurried them to Louisville's Norton infirmary.

Nurses who cared for the babies during their stay here used handkerchiefs freely as tears started to flow.

Forming a convoy for the quads were their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Porter Lashley, and eight of their other children. At Leitchfield, a special new home awaited the quads. It was constructed by a dairy company interested in their welfare.

1,500 HOMELESS AS WISCONSIN'S FLOODS SUBSIDE

Hayward, Wis., Sept. 1 (AP).—Flood waters which ravaged three regions of northern and central Wisconsin, taking two lives, subsided slowly tonight but still held possession of hundreds of homes and continued to swirl deep over highways, city streets, and thousands of acres of farm lands.

Daniel M. Reagan, 59 years old, of Morse, was killed when struck by an automobile as he patrolled a section of washed out highway near Mellen. Edward M. Conger, a Couderay Indian, drowned near Hayward when his automobile careened into a washout.

An estimated 1,500 persons—including the population of an entire Indian village—were forced to flee when rampaging rivers, swollen by torrential week-end rains, roared over their banks. Damage was expected to total millions of dollars.

The rivers wreaking the widest devastation were the Wisconsin, in the north central part of the state; the Chippewa, in the northeast, and the White and Bad rivers in the far north.

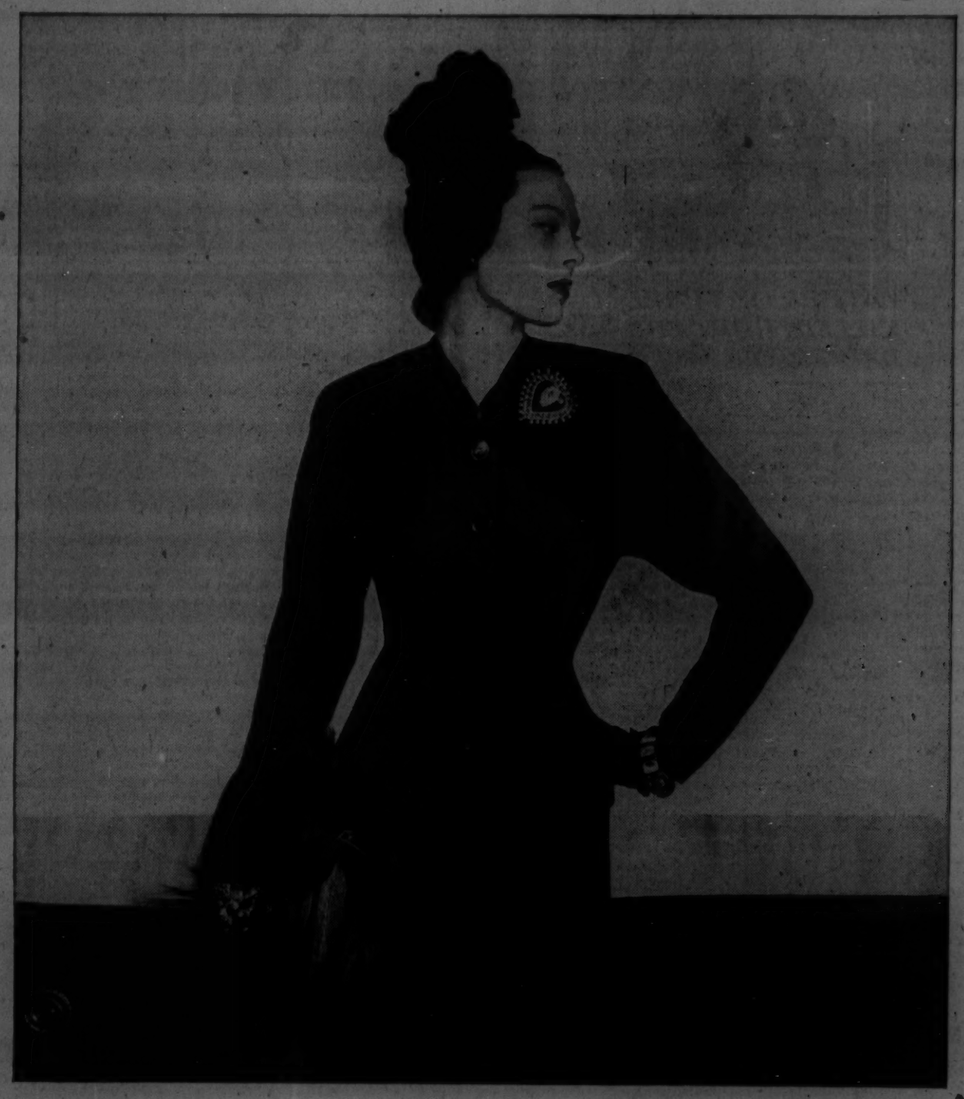
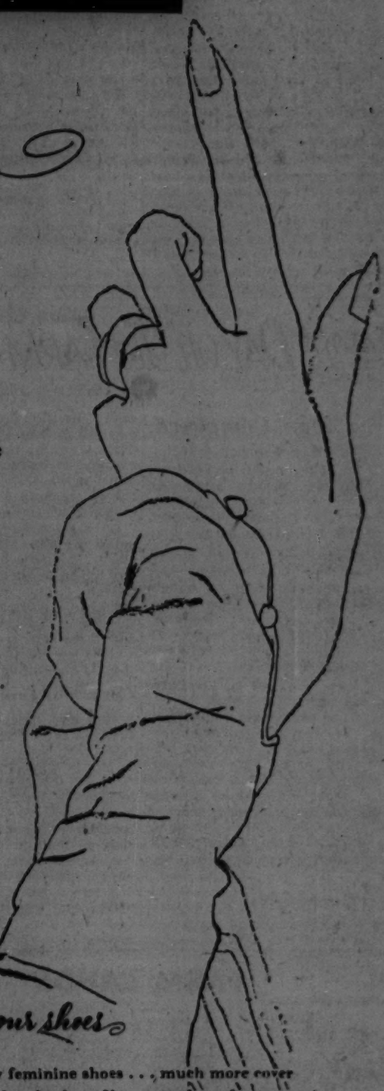
Marshall Field & Company



Lovely Lady, greet the Autumn

You see it . . . you feel it . . . the imagination, the pure modern design, the sureness that marks the new collections. American designing has established itself and has earned your bravos and applause. You find yourself taking pride in the colors, the accents, the new invention of silhouette. At the same time there is pleasant recollection . . . like an old song that brings vividly to mind the place where you heard it and what you wore . . . the cloche, glistening jet, shoulder-length evening gloves, jutting tunics over tubular skirts . . . not from the distant past but the near past that seems longer ago in the light of all that has transpired.

Let the drama come from the spirit of the new clothes. Color speaks . . . line speaks . . . texture speaks, and You, the leading character, remain quietly elegant and charming. Marshall Field & Company charts Autumn fashions and indicates the exciting ways in which American designers have created a sleek, smart, feminine woman, whose clothes promise to become as memorable as her good deeds in the Autumn of 1941.



your silhouette

Slender well describes the new silhouette, with no feeling of "skimpiness." Great freedom in the easy, rounded shoulders and new deeper armholes. Often the slim line is broken by a peplum or a longer tunic which manages to make the waistline look small.

your hair

Your head will be clean cut as a cameo. Dress your hair high enough to give a clear view of your neck. Sweep your hair up from your forehead and make ready for forward moving hats. There is a neat look to heads, climaxed by the allover three-inch haircut.

your shoes

Very feminine shoes . . . much more covering for the foot. New spat shoes for town, even in combinations of satin and faille for evening. The baby Louis heel returns after a long absence. Polished calf enjoys a town and country role. Flats are still with us.

your colors

Brown has all the basic wardrobe importance we forecast earlier. Your daytime costume is almost sure to be color. It may be rich plum worn as a singleton from head to foot . . . or Dublin green. You'll wear all black with great chic.

your gloves

Certainly color in your glove wardrobe . . . riotous colors . . . jubilee pink or amethyst shoulder-length gloves held high by wide bracelets in the evening. Dull black slipons with your black on black afternoon costume. Muted and bright colors with your wools.

your hats

Hats cover the back of the head, hide the hair, fit snugly . . . even held in the hand they have the shape and form of a hat! New feathers . . . numidi, ghoura and griebe. Wonderful manipulation of fur. Note the cloche and the new forward movement.

your furs

There's news in the stole to wear easily around your shoulders, a glistening seal muff to carry against a Dublin green wool suit, a full-length cape of lynx. A cape in any fur is real fashion news. Charm in a tiny ermine bolero and muff for evening.

your bags

Long, wide envelopes and generous pouches. Roomy, but managing to look very handsome, especially the calf and suede bag built like a Gladstone. For sheer enchantment, bags of fur . . . civet cat, glistening black fox or monkey fur . . . first cousins to muffs.

your jewelry

Tiny bugs, gay butterflies, dainty flowers, five-point stars, all scattered with studied carelessness over the bodice of your simple black dress. Great white cabochon stones set in black enamel. Glistening black jet. Bracelets with a fine jewelry look.

BODY OF STABBED MAJOR EXAMINED AT REVIVED QUIZ

Hint Grand Jury Action May Be Sought.

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 1 [Special].—Possibility that indictments for murder may be sought before the grand jury Thursday or Friday were seen today by Capt. Vernon Rasmussen of the homicide detail as police continued their investigation of the death of Maj. George A. Tucker.

The body of Maj. Tucker was disinterred early today and removed to the coroner's office where an autopsy was performed by Dr. Frank R. Webb, chief county autopsy surgeon.

Dr. Webb refused to state whether or not the army officer met his death last July 1 of an accidental stabbing while slicing bread for a sandwich, preferring to wait and look over clinical and autopsy reports from Letterman hospital, San Francisco, before making a definite commitment.

Seeks to Prove Murder.

Detective Lieutenant Miles Ledbetter, who obtained an order from Superior Judge Ruben Schmidt to exhume the body, said he was convinced Maj. Tucker met with foul play.

"In my opinion, the wound was not self-inflicted," he said. "We not only think that Maj. Tucker was stabbed to death, but we're going to prove it."

A Difficult Examination.

Dr. Webb's examination after the exhumation today was handicapped by the fact that two operations and an autopsy previously had been performed, all at Letterman hospital where Maj. Tucker died on July 13. The stabbing, 13 days earlier, had occurred shortly after the major returned home from a party on the Fort MacArthur reservation.

Investigating officers have made repeated attempts to obtain the clinical and autopsy reports from the Letterman hospital, seeking the necessary authority thru the adjutant general's office in Washington.

When you can have more, why take less?

IS YOUR ADVERTISING LAGGING BEHIND CHICAGO'S EXPANDING BUYING?

You can make more sales at lower cost with Tribune advertising

DOES your selling drive take into account Chicago's growing industrial activity? With bigger pay rolls swelling retail sales, low pressure promotional methods cannot deliver the market impact which the present upswing invites.

To step up your efforts in keeping with opportunities in Chicago, build your program around the Tribune. With over 1,000,000 net paid every day of the week, the Tribune now delivers on week days from 610,000 to 650,000 more total circulation than other Chicago daily newspapers. And on Sunday from 290,000 to 715,000 more than other Chicago Sunday newspapers.

In every income group of interest to advertisers the Tribune has far more circulation in Chicago and suburbs than other newspapers. And, in addition, it reaches hundreds of thousands of prospects in the adjacent territory.

The editorial qualities which build deepest interest among readers produce the best returns for advertisers. As the newspaper which has best demonstrated its ability to widen the Chicago market for its own product, the Tribune can give you the most help in widening the market for your product.

This fact is proved by Chicago retailers who placed 51% more advertising in the Tribune during the first six months of this year than they placed in any other Chicago newspaper. It is affirmed by general advertisers who in the same period gave the Tribune a 37% lead.

When you can have more, why take less? When you use the Tribune, you put more punch into your selling and pile up more volume at less cost per unit sold. Rates per 100,000 circulation are among the lowest in America.

A Tribune representative or your advertising counsel will be glad to give you more information on how you can increase sales in Chicago at lower advertising cost by making the Tribune your basic medium.

CHICAGO TRIBUNE CIRCULATION

And on Sundays the Tribune delivers in Chicago and suburbs from 350,000 to 410,000 more than other Chicago Sunday newspapers.

The barrage of brown tones in the fall fashion picture calls for carefully keyed makeup to disprove the old theory that brown is a difficult color. T new makeup, brown-red is a lively accent that provides flattering harmony.

One of the first fall colors, as you have undoubtedly heard if you keep an ear to the fashion ground, is brown. Rather, the whole range of browns—and that's quite a range.

There are red browns, rust browns, sherry browns and more nuances of tan and beige than you ever dreamed could be developed. All beautiful, and all wearable by any woman IF she has the right makeup.

The beauty and fashion fields are so well coördinated nowadays that no new colors lack their complements in makeup. For example, all ready for your face to dramatize the browns that will be draped on your figure, is a new makeup called "nut brown red."

It's designed to disprove the old theory that brown is a difficult color, and it does exactly that.

For most women browns need brightening, and this is the makeup to do the trick. It makes you look clear eyed and clear skinned, no matter what your own coloring or the shade of the brown you're wearing!

The makeup—lipstick, rouge, face powder, even nail enamel—comes all assembled for you in a nutshell. And we mean that literally; the container reproduces a gold walnut in shape, detail and coloring.

Each New Day Brings Change in the Child

By GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS.

[Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.]

This is a simple human observation. I'm sure that most people who see with their minds as well as their eyes must have made it. I have pointed it out in this column from time to time. It is this:

That those mothers who really enjoy their children are least likely to have trouble with them. And by "enjoy" I don't mean the enjoyment that some parents exhibit when they make a "toy" of a little child or are possessively proud about the older ones, but the kind of enjoyment which means that their child interests them as a person, and that his presence is a pleasure to them. For it's one thing to love your children and it's another thing to really enjoy them.

A mother writes me that every new thing her not quite 2 year old son does gives her pleasure. She gets a thrill when he comes walking, rather staggeringly, over to her for a "visit." He is sweetly obedient, without her having had to work over it. He takes bumps without a fuss. He is so interesting to watch from day to day. And her letter ends: "I thank God for little sons a dozen times a day.

Suppose, as this mother says, every new thing your little son does [or your little daughter] gives you pleasure. That's enjoying your children.

And do you think they don't sense it? They certainly do. If you're interested in them, if they delight you, if you have a feeling of satisfaction in being with them just as you do with grownups you enjoy, don't you think a warm current of contentment and friendliness flows between you? It surely does.

A mother may love her children and still be irritable and impatient and critical. A mother who enjoys her children as interesting people, very dear to her, of course, has a very different attitude, a very different relation to them.

Very little boys and girls, as they come out of babyhood, are fascinating. Each day, almost, sees a change, something new, engaging, amusing, delectable, interesting. The mother who can truly enjoy her very small son or daughter is not only having a rich experience but is getting herself and her child off to a mighty good start.

Barnyard and Forest Motifs

Birds, beasts, and flowers, residents of the barnyard and forests, serve as embroidery motifs for towels, aprons, curtains, and children's clothes. Year on Year, Scotch Plaids Hold the Forte

BY REA SEEGER.

Scotch plaids have broken all available records for year after year importance and popularity.

That blaze of brilliant color, that inimitable snap is now practically all-the-year-round favorite for young and not so young.

By the yard or in the dress, nothing equals the heart warming glory of Scotch plaid. No matter how you wear it, if you have any imagination at all you walk as tho you were back of skirling bagpipes and wish you, too, might have that snap of the kilts.

Strong colors and the dark contrasts both make stunning outfits. Now available are the colorful outfits for the back to school trek. You may even dress your small moppet in regulation kilts pinned at the left side with a huge metal safety pin, then top it with a dark green or black velveteen jacket.

There are clever new blouses with a panel of Scotch plaid down the center; there are separate fitted jackets and jacket blouses of Scotch plaid thin wool, reefers, swagger coats, convertible raincoats with a Scotch exterior and a beige water repellent interior.

You will find Scotch plaid dresses for young and old, plaids housecoats, and plaid petticoats. Also bags, belts, bows, blouses, and socks. Tiny Scotch bonnets with back streamers make particularly ideal schoolgirl toppers, more complicated versions for the grown-ups, tams of Scotch plaid wool, ascots in velveteen wool or velvet and taffeta ready for neckline duty, sweaters, skullcaps, mittens, matching dress parade bags and hats.

Make Tea - Easily

"SALADA" TEA-BAGS

America's Finer Tea

He makes munitions—

Out of a white-hot furnace, Louis F. Kovacic draws a heavy bar of metal, feeds the fiery end to the massive jaws of a giant forge, then bends down to draw out another hot and heavy bar. Tough, strenuous work! But it all helps America! "Since starting the Vitality Boost," says Mr. Kovacic, "I wake up with more pep and have more energy for another hard day's work." . . . 1904 W. Cermak Rd.

EVERY day is RUSH day on AMERICA'S BIGGEST JOB!

Is there rush and strain about your job? Do what these defense workers do . . . take the VITALITY BOOST!

She keeps out snoopers—

Every day Miss Florence Raffen must be alert and clear-eyed to guard the secrecy of Uncle Sam's defense work. All visitors must first pass her scrutiny . . . each to be checked in, checked out, always accounted for. "The Vitality Boost helps me keep on my toes," says Miss Raffen. "It's a grand way to enjoy the finer flavor of Bowman Milk, too." . . . 370 N. Hamlin Ave.

THE VITALITY BOOST:
At bedtime every night a glass of
BOWMAN MILK
THE MILK OF SUPERIOR FLAVOR

When Chicago first heard of Bowman's great new idea—the Vitality Boost—thousands took it up simply because it helped them to feel better and to enjoy life more.

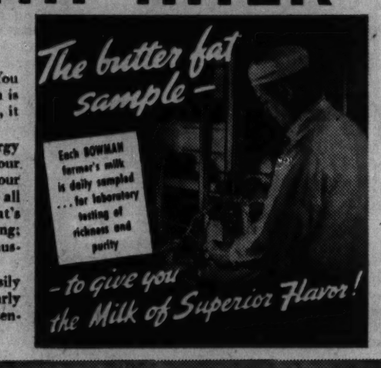
Now a new group is taking up this idea. Hard working men and women in Chicago's great defense industries are finding that the Vitality Boost helps them meet the daily rush and strain of their jobs by helping them get more restful sleep.

Make the Vitality Boost a part of your own personal preparedness program. Every night at bedtime simply drink an extra glass of Bowman Milk . . . known to thousands of Chicagoans as the Vitality Boost milk . . . known to all Chicagoans as the Milk of Superior Flavor.

HERE'S WHY IT HELPS: 1. You take the milk when your stomach is empty. Preventing hunger pangs, it helps you get more restful sleep.

2. It reduces the tax on your energy store that even sleeping takes. (Your body's need of fuel each sleeping hour is actually 40% of the average for all your waking, working hours! That's because your heart keeps pumping; breathing continues, "relaxed" muscles are always under tension.)

3. It gives your body . . . in easily digestible form . . . the most nearly perfect supply of nutritional essentials that any food can provide.



The butter fat sample—
Each BOWMAN farmer's milk is daily sampled . . . for laboratory testing of richness and purity —to give you the Milk of Superior Flavor!

53 Debutantes Will Plunge Into Party Whirl Tomorrow

BY JUDITH CASS.

ALTHO early summer has begun to provide real competition to September for the lion's share of debut parties, the first weeks of the current month are so filled with debuts that these pre-college days still lead June parties by a comfortable majority. Beginning tomorrow the 53 debutantes of this season will plunge into a nonstop party whirl that will continue past the middle of the month. The 53 buds on the 1941-'42 debutante list are the following:

Mary Cornelia Aldis	Harriett Dawes	Lana Jelke	Joan Peabody
Betty Bennett	Mary W. Dowling	Ann Davis Johnson	Barbara Pettibone
Anne Boswell	Carol Gardner	Kay Keehn	Mary Lew Pope
Barbara Bowes	Sally Glaser	Jeanne Kimball	Sally Robbins
Barbara Bronson	Cynthia Gooding	Louise Konsberg	Annie L. Ryerson
Betty Buck	Julie Goodman	Betty McArthur	Nancy Scribner
Ann Carpenter	Helen Harding	Nancy McCloud	Mary Scudder
Caryl Casselberry	Cynthia Harris	Adelaide McCreary	Shirley Strotz
Frances Reid Clow	Diana Hill	Barbara McNulty	Louise Strawn
Eleanor Cochran	Shirley Hopkins	Lois Mason	Sallie Ellen Welsh
Frances Cornell	Blanche Hoyt	Peggy Nicholson	Julia Turner
Elizabeth Cowles	Peggy Hoyt	Anne Northrop	Dudley Winston
Leonore Cudahy	Sally Hyde	Shirley O'Brien	Laura Winston
			Ada Blanche Wrigley

The names of two others were removed by marriage. The former Althea Cunningham became the first bride of the group when she was married to William B. Johnson in June, and Miss Modrea Mullen's name was taken off when her engagement to William H. Mitchell Jr. was announced. Her debut supper-dance, planned for next Friday night, will be her wedding reception.

The name of Joan Harrison has been stricken from the list, too, altho it is possible that her parents, the junior Carter H. Harrisons, may have a party for her at Christmas time. Otherwise she will be among next year's buds. Miss Harrison missed most of the June parties thru illness, and she will be absent from this fall's debuts as she will return to the San Luis school in Colorado Springs as soon as she returns from a holiday trip later this month.

Catryna Nevius May Have Christmas Party.

A possible addition would be the name of Catryna Nevius, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guernsey V. Nevius of Winnetka, who may have a party at Christmas time. Miss Gloria Gartz, too, may have a party later. She is the younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Frederick Gartz Jr.

Miss Barbara Bowes may not have a formal debut altho her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jerome P. Bowes Jr., have reserved the afternoon of Dec. 30 for a tea. Jerome Bowes III. is so long recovering from an automobile accident that the family may not be able to go thru with the present plans.

There are a number of other young women who will not be having formal parties, but who are assisting at some of the teas and who will be going to the Christmas dances just the same. One of these is Miss Sue Sullivan, daughter of the Harry J. Sullivans of Winnetka, who have given a good many parties for debutantes of seasons past. Miss Sullivan attended Pine Manor last year and will be at the Stuart Art school in Boston this year. Her younger sister, Jean, who was graduated from Roycemore, is entering Pine Manor this fall.

Recent Additions to List of Buds.

The most recent additions to the list are Miss Harding, who is to have a luncheon with dancing at Christmas time, and Miss Julia Turner. Miss Harding is a daughter of Mrs. Charles F. Harding Jr. and the late Mr. Harding of Winnetka.

Miss Turner's aunt, Miss Margaret Thompson, will give a luncheon on Sept. 17 at the Shoreacres club, which will be Miss Turner's formal debut. However, the bud's mother, Mrs. Le Baron Turner of Geneva, probably will entertain for her during the Christmas holidays. Miss Turner gave a dinner at home Saturday and took her guests to the dance at the Geneva Golf club. A recent graduate of the Concord academy in Concord, Mass., Miss Turner will leave about Sept. 25 to enter Bryn Mawr.

Fashion Show Friday in Lake Forest.

Scouts for the St. Luke's fashion show on Oct. 21 and for the Winnetka board of Northwestern University's Settlement show on Sept. 27 will occupy vantage point tables at a fashion show to be held in Lake Forest next Friday. A number of this season's debutantes will be among those modeling a million dollars' worth of furs brought from the east, and the hats and frocks of a Lake Forest show, so the busy St. Lukers and Settlement members will be keeping a sharp eye out for material for their own shows. Friday's fashion review will be held at 12:30 o'clock at the Deerpath inn. Luncheon will be served.

Mr. and Mrs. Braman Rockwell of Chicago and South Hero, Vt., announce the engagement of their daughter, Barbara, to Downing Messimer of Worcester, Mass., son of Mr. and Mrs. Ward N. Messimer of Ossining, N. Y. Miss Rockwell was graduated from the Faulkner school and from Pine Manor Junior college. Mr. Messimer was graduated from the Worcester Polytechnic institute.

The Rockwells are in Vermont now preparing for the wedding, which will take place on Sept. 27 in the Congregational church at South Hero. Among the Chicagoans going east for the wedding will be Mr. and Mrs. E. Payson Smith, who have been spending the summer at their Robbinswood lodge in Delavan, Wis.

Judy and Her Playmate

(TRIBUNE Photo.)

Judy Lange, who is 6 months old, and a little playmate, Pickle Puss, who is half that age, are inseparable companions. Judy is the Homer Langes' daughter. Mrs. Lange is general chairman of the Chicago committee of the Arden Shore association's annual benefit Oct. 11 in the Gold Coast room of the Drake hotel. The party is called a "Top Notch Ball," and will be a dinner-dance with a sports motif.

V-Dinner.

A patron entered the Panther room at dinner time and said he wanted a V-dinner. "Vichysoisse," he said, "followed by a veal kidneys, vegetables and Vienna rolls. Vanilla ice cream for dessert and If you can think of a sauce that begins with V, put it on the ice cream." He paused, then added: "But I don't want to have to pay a V for it, mind you."

TORCH SINGER.

We sit in the half-filled café,
Our drinks and elbows
On the red checkered table cloth,
Listening to a sad throaty ballad
Rendered with alcoholic sentimentality.

And we wonder
What a two hundred pound maiden
In a star-embroidered gown
Of chartreuse
Thinks,
When she fastens her eyes heavenward,
And huskily pours her song
Into the air.

Is it apotheosis she feels
Or is she thinking
Of her appointment tomorrow
With the chiropodist?

Appreciation.

BY SUSAN D. WEST.

I am grateful that whoever it is who designs fields and meadows and the upland sweep of woods uses a free hand about the arrangement of His flowers and grasses; that there is no book of rules He must follow; that He can mix the lily with the rose and border the violet with spring beauties, throwing in ferns and even buttercups for good measure; that there is no self appointed arbiter who stands over You and says: "Lord these woods are too vast for the low arrangement of your violets; the flowers must be one and a half times higher than the container. Your trees are high, towering upwards, and the proportions are all wrong. Violets cling to the earth and baby's breath can hardly be found among the long fronds of the ferns."

Whoever You are who controls arrangements in fields and woods, You are pretty satisfying. The way You mix brown-eyed Susans with tall grasses with here and there a tiger lily and the manner in which you adorn a homely country road with Queen Anne's lace and the heavenly blue of choiry bears the touch of artistry. When You set these things to growing in the fields and on the roadsides, did it matter to You whether the fields were the right shape and whether the road was black or brown or grey or did You just think to ease man's burden and plan this beauty for his soul's delight?

Blue Tuesday.

It's blue Tuesday, instead of blue Monday, for a columnist, because the mail is always small on Tuesday. Apparently it is for certain other persons too. "I don't want to feel tomorrow like I feel today," says Bookman Ben Abramson, quoting a line from The St. Louis Blues. "Today is Tuesday. Tuesday is the slimmest of the days of the week for me. We receive no eastern mail on Tuesday because all the letters written on Friday and Saturday have been delivered on Monday and all Monday's letters don't arrive until Wednesday. The same is true also of letters from the west and south. And so Tuesday is always a blue day."

The author of The St. Louis Blues, W. C. Handy, was in town recently in the interest of his recently published autobiography, Father of the Blues. He brought along his trumpet and at a bookstore gathering in his honor he played songs he had composed—Memphis Blues, Beale Street Blues, his arrangement of Careless Love and of some spirituals. In his book, Handy explains the significance of the lines of his most famous song, St. Louis Blues. The first line, "I hate to see the sun go down," came as a result of days when Handy was young and penniless in St. Louis and has to sleep on cobblestones at night. He dreaded the sun going down, and the uncomfortable, homeless night ahead of him.

Miriam Bartlett, M. M. Butterfield Wed in Michigan

White Lake, Mich., Aug. 30 [Special].—One of the outstanding events of the White Lake, Mich., summer colony was the wedding this afternoon of Miss Miriam Bartlett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Bartlett of Winnetka and Sylvan Beach, to MacBride Marsh Butterfield, son of Mrs. A. D. Butterfield of Nashville, Tenn. The ceremony took place in the garden adjoining the patio of Mrs. Butterfield's summer home here.

The bride wore a charming frock of chartreuse velvet with a matching hat and carried a prayer book surrounded by a cluster of green orchids. Miss Elizabeth Wilcox of Burlington, Ia., the bride's cousin and maid of honor, wore green lame with a matching hat. Little Judith Farmer of Muskegon was flower girl. James Butterfield was his brother's best man. A reception followed the ceremony, after which Mr. Butterfield and his bride departed for a wedding trip to Estes Park, Colo.

Park Concert Starts Badly, Ends in Glory

BY EDWARD BARRY.

The final week of 1941 Grant park music began last night with a concert by the Chicago Opera orchestra under Leo Kopp's direction.

Like so many things that turn out well in the end, this concert started badly. Glinka's "Russian and Ludmilla" overture was so bumpy and grim that the orchestra men themselves seemed to be jolted into a realization of the fact that this was indeed a sorry performance for professional musicians to be giving.

At any rate, they reformed immediately, and in Strauss' "Wiener Blut" they were alert to execute every one of Kopp's very good ideas. The waltz was delicate and flexible and tonally suave, and its great nostalgic beauty came thru perfectly.

In the two intermezzi from Wolf-Ferrari's "Jewels of the Madonna," and in Caillet's clever variations on "Pop Goes the Weasel," the performance of the orchestra was bright and alive. For the last named piece, Kopp had worked out a great variety of effects—principally effects of accent—to emphasize the epigrammatic quality of the writing.

Soloists were Lois Wallner, soprano, and Thomas Brennan, tenor. The former has a small voice which she uses with great cunning. This fact, combined with the fluency of her coloratura, made the Polonaise from "Mignon" and the "Sempre Libera" from "La Traviata" quite effective.

To Brennan nature has given a magnificent, resonant voice which will be a wonderful servant to him when he has worked out a more suave and beautiful tone and acquired a more flowing legato. He was heard in excerpts from "La Gioconda" and "Rigoletto."

If Summer Sun Ruined Your Hair, Here's Helpful Hint

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.

Yes, they're checking in now with tales of what vacation days did to their hair. And you know whom we mean by "they." They're the careless and the reckless sisters, or maybe just thoughtless ones who act on the theory that there's always a tomorrow for repair.

The girls cannot say we didn't warn them. We warned them plenty about going hatless under the burning sun's rays.

However, by the grace of our cosmetic products, there is a tomorrow for repairs. That tomorrow is today, young women; right now and today, not another tomorrow. If your hair is dull and discolored, as the reports coming in indicate in a number of cases, it's time and energy now you have to recruit for aid. Arm yourself with a good hair lotion, one for your own type of hair, dullness, and discoloration, and get busy with treatments. If you can afford the professional reconditioning, we heartily recommend it under the circumstances, but home treatment may accomplish a miracle of change for the better.

If you never before thought of your hairbrush as hair aid No. 1, now is the time to adopt it as just that. If your hair is dry, which appears to be the universal complaint at the present time, you will want a lubricating pomade for the scalp. There are some fine ones on the market and not out of price reach for the budgeteer. Get a good one from a reliable manufacturer. Dab a bit on your finger tips and work it into the scalp well. Grease your palm lightly with the lubricant and rub it on the ends of the hair lightly. Then, take your brush and wield it in the grand, industrious manner that insures results.

The brushing alone, when the hair is dry from summer sun and wind exposure, is not quite enough to restore gloss and luster. You need the scalp and hair pomade or unguent in addition! Don't expect overnight miracles. It may take you a couple of weeks of consistent daily brushing and unguent use to restore your hair to its former soft to the touch texture.

"A Debt Is Paid"

SYNOPSIS.

Kathleen Murray inherits an income and a home in an actors' colony in California and goes there to live. She and Hugo Lang, whose play is being produced in the local summer theater, fall in love. But Hugo wants to wait to marry until his play makes him enough money for them to live on without using Kathleen's. Carol Keyes is backing his production and insists on playing the lead rôle tho young Jeanie Payson is a much better actress. Maurice Reed has the leading male rôle. Ellen Mount, Hugo's foster mother, Toby Allerton, Kathleen's protége, and Jeanie have minor rôles. It is a murder play and Kathleen has an uncomfortable presentiment when Wilkie Stokes, another member of the colony, discusses the fascinations of killing. Jeanie is found murdered one morning after having gone for a ride the evening before with Hugo. Hugo, who is hiding out in a mountain cabin when the police find him, refuses to talk and so he is tried and sentenced to life imprisonment for Jeanie's murder. Kathleen, still believing him innocent, hires Detective Bill Greer, hoping to uncover evidence to free Hugo. Bill finds a money box hidden under the floor of the mountain cabin, with only Jeanie's finger prints on it. Kathleen thinks Stokes is guilty and in trying to trap him, he puts on an act to frighten her and she at last realizes he couldn't have committed the murder. A memorandum is found in Jeanie's handwriting, showing Jeanie and some man had a joint account and Toby discovered that Jeanie and a male companion went on a day's trip together which strongly suggests there was a romance between them. Mrs. Payson tries to blackmail Kathleen with some of Jeanie's letters to Hugo. In the meantime, a Broadway producer becomes interested in Hugo's play

INSTALMENT XLIV.

FAR MARKS.

Bill Greer returned to California the following Sunday. He telephoned on his arrival at the airport. There was a distinct note of jubilation in his quiet, lazy voice.

"I'd like you and the boy to meet me at the hotel. I've got interesting news for you."

Kathleen thrilled with apprehension and excitement.

"Oh, really? Have you found something?"

"Shouldn't wonder."

"Then tell me quickly—now. Please? I can't wait. I can't bear it."

"Sorry. You'll have to. I don't talk on telephones, Miss Murray. Time you knew that."

"Of course, Mr. Greer. I'm sorry. We'll be right over."

She ran down to the lake shore to call Toby out of the water. He came with his fast, strong crawl and emerged dripping beside her.

"Bill's back, Toby. Quick—get ready. He wants to see us at his hotel. I think he's found out something——"

She tugged at him in her wild excitement. He put his wet hand on her arm with an affectionate gesture.

"Don't, Kathleen. I mean don't count on this too much. I don't want to see you heartbroken with disappointment."

She was moved to tears as she walked back to the house beside him. "Toby, what would I have done without you? You've been a brother to me."

He was moved himself, altho, boylike, he hated to show it.

"But look what you've been to me. More than any sister I ever heard of——"

Kathleen returned to the subject while Toby drove her into Los Angeles.

"Toby, let's adopt each other for keeps. I always wanted a brother. Every girl should have at least one. And any boy is better off with a big sister. What do you think?"

The first great emotion of his life was in the shine of his eyes, but he could not express the depth of it. "I think it's swell. The swellest thing I ever heard of."

"Keep your eyes on the road, Toby. I don't want to die for a long time yet——"

He obeyed her. "Well, you would spring this in the middle of the traffic. Can I help it if I get excited?"

"That settled, then, Toby. I'm your sister—you're my brother. Lake's End is your other home. Don't forget it when you go away from it——"

"I never will, Kathleen. And don't forget you've got me if you're ever again in trouble——"

"Indeed I won't. Not so fast! I want to live to hear the news and tell Bill about the letter."

But Kathleen forgot Jeanie's letter when they went into Bill Greer's hotel sitting room. He had the satisfied look of a cat that has just caught and eaten a particularly juicy bird. He invited her to sit down, pulling forward an armchair with an unusual flourish. He's as human as we are, Kathleen thought; he's all thrilled because he hopes in a minute I'm going to admire him. And I hope I have reason to. The first thing he said was certainly startling.

"What I saw during the play was no coincidence. I didn't expect it to be. Mrs. Mount is Maurice Reed's mother!"

"Holy smoke!" yelled Toby.

Bill Greer's little smile showed he was enjoying his sensation. He took out a cigar, removed its cellophane wrapping, and carefully clipped it.

"Since when has friendship been necessary between offspring and parents? Anyhow, it is so. I went to New York to dig up their history, and I turned up plenty of old bones. I figured they were near relatives, tho I didn't figure that near——"

"But what can it mean?" begged Kathleen. "The hostility between them—the secrecy——"

"Now that we have uncovered the secret itself we shall soon find out."

Toby's pose of never being surprised at anything in imitation of Bill now failed him. He was staring at the detective, eyes wide behind his glasses in naive utter amazement.

"So that's what you saw thru your special opera glasses?"

Bill nodded, his smile widening like the Cheshire cat's.

"But, how?" inquired Kathleen. Bill took some diagrams from his brief case and spread them on the table. They were prints of fine pen drawings of human ears."

"Now, Toby, you pay special attention. Notice anything?"

"Why, yes," said Toby in wonder. "They're all ears all right, but all the rims have different shapes and all the holes have different angles."

Kathleen shared his astonishment. "I thought all ears were alike except for their size. I'd no idea there were all these patterns."

"Simple, isn't it?" said Bill, "when you know about it. That's why scientific detection beats fiction writers' magic." He took up a pencil. "See this little pointed protrusion inside the rim as you call it? That's known as a Darwinian extension. Mrs. Mount and Maurice Reed both have it in the same spot. In addition, the shape of the helix is identical and the slant of the antitragus is at the same angle.

"To put it even more simply, the ear is the most characteristic part of the body next to the ridges on the skin, such as palm prints and finger prints. For instance, any one who knew this would know when he was looking at the actual Hitler or one of his madeup doubles. The ear, unlike any other feature, cannot be disguised.

"Now, such a similarity as exists in these two could only be explained by heredity or that million to one coincidence. Both the pattern and the peculiarity of the Darwinian extension are identical. You'll admit those ears shouted for investigation."

"Well," said Kathleen, "it is simple when you know it. But if she wanted to hide that Maurice was her son, why didn't she cover her ears with her hair?"

Bill laughed with enjoyment of his small triumph. "Because she doesn't know their ears look alike. Neither does he. She couldn't draw a rough diagram of her own ear to save her life. She may have looked in the mirror a million times to arrange her hair, but she's never seen the type of ear she has. Have you?"

"Of course not. I never thought of it."

"Neither does anybody else. Except the police department of identification and these interfering detectives. Now, that's enough about the clew that led to their relationship. The important thing is the story. Aren't you curious about that?"

Hugo keeping quiet. His foster mother the mother of Maurice Reed. Strangeness and mystery. Fear. Was he guilty after all? Kathleen's heart plunged, hesitated, and went on with a hard sickening beat.

"Yes. Whatever it is, I'd better face it."

They were sitting around the table. She felt Toby lay his hand over hers, give it a warm reassuring pressure, and withdraw. His silent support steadied her nerves. Romantic love was a wild, beautiful thing, but precious beyond telling was this homespun unwavering loyalty. Bill guessed at her anxiety.

"Don't worry. There's nothing shady about the woman. Quite the reverse. All my informants paint her in bright colors—and what's more I can see daylight——"

Kathleen relaxed. "Go on then——"

Bill pushed his chair from the table and leaned back in it. It was his own theory that he was competent because he took things easy. He certainly was incurable in his love of doing things at leisure. Nothing would make him begin at the middle of his story."

"You must understand," he said, "that this is a structure built of many pieces collected from devious sources and laboriously fitted together. Some of my informants had to be bullied into talking—others were tricked into it—and some were bought with your money. I don't include a piece I haven't checked and double checked, so don't badger me about why and how——"

TRICKED by a false call into the clutches of Raoul de Chabenil, a lovely young American girl is gagged and tortured in an effort to make her confess murder. But who really did poison Madame Rentrew? You'll find out in "NO LIGHT CAME ON"—Alice Campbell's exciting new mystery serial starting Monday in the Chicago Tribune.

Attendance Records Broken at St. Louis Municipal Opera

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 1 (AP).—All attendance records for St. Louis' municipal opera were broken last night as a throng of 11,232 jammed the outdoor theater in Forest park for the finale of the famous musical venture's 23d season.

The attraction was "Balalaika," a London success of a few years ago, which was given its American stage premiere here.

The final night's turnout boosted attendance figures to 74,770 for the week and 811,433 for the season's 87 performances.

Records broken were those for a single night, 11,161 at "The Desert Song" last Aug. 16; for a week, 73,423 at "Irene" last July, and for a season, 774,956 at 86 performances in 1936.

To many women fudge is a "frost" as a frosting. A fudge frosting is all too often dry and hard, with a tendency to crack that ruins any cake's sartorial perfection.

But, fortunately, there are many other chocolate frostings which are less temperamental.

The cake that wears this creamy chocolate frosting is well groomed. It's a frosting that is similar to fudge in many respects but, because it contains egg yolks and is made after a custard pattern, it is much easier to handle.

Creamy Chocolate Frosting.

2 squares unsweetened chocolate
½ cup milk
1½ cups sugar
2 egg yolks, well beaten
1 tablespoon butter
1 teaspoon vanilla

Heat chocolate with the milk in top of double boiler until the chocolate is melted; beat to blend. Gradually stir sugar into egg yolks. Add slowly to milk mixture and cook, stirring frequently until thickened, about 10 minutes. Add butter and vanilla, and cool. When lukewarm, beat until thick enough to spread.

Another chocolate frosting which uses egg yolks for smoothness is this one made with confectioners' sugar and given to us by a reader. It's as wonderful as she says. The trick lies in the chilly beating it gets.

Fluffy Chocolate Frosting.

[2 8-inch layers]
1 cup sifted confectioners' sugar
2 egg yolks, or 1 egg
¼ cup milk
½ teaspoon vanilla
3 squares melted, unsweetened chocolate
1 tablespoon melted butter

Combine sugar and egg yolks and add remaining ingredients. Beat until well blended. Then place bowl in pan of cracked ice or ice water and continue beating until frosting is of spreading consistency, about 3 or 4 minutes. Remove from ice at once and spread quickly on cake.

Gelatin, cream cheese, or sweetened condensed milk is sometimes added to chocolate and cocoa frostings to improve their consistency.

Chocolate Cheese Frosting.

1 3-ounce package cream cheese
2 or 3 tablespoons milk
2 cups sifted confectioners' sugar
2 squares unsweetened chocolate, melted
¼ teaspoon salt

Soften cream cheese with milk. Add sugar, a cup at a time, blending after each addition. Add chocolate and salt and beat until smooth.

Chocolate Almond Frosting.

2 squares unsweetened chocolate
1 can [1¼ cups] sweetened condensed milk
1 tablespoon water
¼ teaspoon almond extract
½ cup toasted almonds, chopped finely

Break up and melt chocolate in top of double boiler. Add condensed milk, stirring over boiling water for 5 minutes, or until frosting thickens. Add water and flavoring extract. Spread on cake and sprinkle with nutmeats.

Chocolate Whipped Cream Frosting.

Soften 1 teaspoon plain gelatin in 1 tablespoon of cold water and dissolve over hot water. Mix together ⅓ cup cocoa, ⅔ cup confectioners' sugar, and ⅛ teaspoon salt. Fold along with 1 teaspoon vanilla, into 1 cup whipped cream. Fold in melted gelatin. Chill and spread on cake.

For a very rich, very simple icing you can't beat this one:

Bittersweet Icing.

Melt 5 squares of sweet chocolate over warm [not boiling] water; stir in ⅓ cup lukewarm water gradually, adding half at once, then gradually adding remainder. Blend well. Cool, stirring occasionally.

Sept. 2, 1941.

Universal day—Watch finances and avoid over-expansion.

Names and numbers—Now that we know President Roosevelt is in a 1-year this year, let's look at his name and see why he followed out his 1 vibration so patly. The first vowel in his name is an "a." These first vowels are very important, so if your name is Frank or Alice, Jane or Jack, or any name in which the first vowel is "a," note carefully the following analysis.

A is the first letter of the alphabet and is given the number 1. People who have this for a first vowel of the given name are fearless and courageous, headstrong and wilful, leaders and originators. They never follow, but always want to be captain of the team, headman of the outfit, the "boss," and they seldom ask for advice or permission before taking action.

WINNIE WINKLE, THE BREADWINNER: Conscience Pangs

IF THE GANG KNEW I WAS GOING OUT TO LUNCH WITH A YOUNG MAN, WOULD THEIR TONGUES WAG! I HOPE MY HAIR LOOKS ALL RIGHT!
AFTER ALL, LUNCHING WITH YOUR HUSBAND'S FRIEND AND BEST MAN AT YOUR WEDDING IS NO CRIME! GOSH, I NEED MORE LIPSTICK!
IF BILL WERE HERE, I KNOW HE WOULD APPROVE! I'LL HAVE TO GET ANOTHER SHADE OF POWDER!
IT ISN'T AS IF I WERE GOING TO LUNCH WITH A STRANGE MAN! DEAR, I WISH I'D HAVE PUT ON ANOTHER DRESS!

DORIS BLAKE'S LETTER BOX

Have you a perplexing problem on which you need friendly counsel? Write to Doris Blake in care of the Chicago Tribune, Tribune Tower, Chicago, Ill. If you wish a personal reply, inclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

No Glamor After 10.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am 14. My mother won't allow me to stay out after 10 o'clock. When I stay near the house it's the same. Do you think she's right, and what time do you think is advisable? I am an attractive girl and I like to have nice times.

GLAMOROUS."

Indeed she is right. You need not only your sleep, but to guard your reputation against slurs. A special occasion is different, of course. But always listen to your parents. They know best, and love you.

A Jewel.

"Dear Miss Blake: I am very much in love with a girl, and I've told her so. When I ask her if she loves me she claims that we're too young to be serious. We're both 17. Is she right? She also disapproves of petting and kissing. What is your opinion?

VIRGIL."

Our opinion is that she's an "all right" girl—with good sense and high moral standards. Try to keep her friendship. In a few years you can become serious.

AMUSEMENTS.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1941: By Ely Culbertson.]

I strongly recommend that average players devote more attention to their "timing" in the play of the hand. I cannot point out too often that one trick is not like another, that the time element qualifies, and sometimes nullifies, what appears to be a certain winner. Let us follow the play of two declarers, handling the same cards in a match point duplicate game.

South, dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.

West opened his fourth best diamond. East smothered the queen and returned the seven spot. At both tables declarer played the 10 on the second trick. West won and continued with a third round of diamonds.

At this point the two declarers went separate ways. One of them, winning with the king, led a low club to dummy's nine and sent the heart jack thru, his idea being, of course, that even two heart tricks would insure the contract, since five clubs and two diamonds were in sight. His analysis was faulty, however. West won with the heart king and then, since he, too, could count declarer's probable tricks, promptly laid down the spade ace, his one chance being to find East with the spade king. East signaled with the eight, and the two spade tricks taken by the defenders, added to their two diamonds and one heart, resulted in the contract's defeat.

The other declarer took a different and more logical view of the matter. Winning the third diamond with the king, he entered dummy with a club, but not to lead a heart. He led a low spade! Admittedly, if East had boldly put up the spade king and returned a heart, the defenders would have established five tricks for themselves. But it should be noted, first, that this involved a master play by East and, second, that, even if East made the play, declarer still would win if the heart finesse worked, the same condition upon which the other declarer relied. As it happened, East was not a good enough player to put up the spade king. He ducked and the queen drove out West's ace. West then was helpless. He made as good a return as possible, namely, a diamond, but declarer won and laid down the spade queen, thus establishing dummy's jack and nine. Now when East, on winning with the spade king, returned a heart, declarer hopped up with the ace and claimed the rest of the tricks.

Wise Subsidy of Marriage Is Advisable

BY DORIS BLAKE.

Copyright: 1941: By News Syndicate Co., Inc.

An interesting question is advanced in a letter from a widowed mother of some means [not affluent, she says] in connection with financing the marriage of her son. The boy's income is not sufficient yet, the mother explains, to handle marriage expenses himself. She writes:

"I want to be wise about this. I argue that if my boy had gone to college I would have made sacrifices to see him thru, if necessary. He's 20 and insists upon marrying, and I don't want him to make a mess of it on account of money shortage if I can wisely assist. In other words, do you feel it is right to subsidize young people?"

In view of the money complications that beset so many young marriages, we think this subject due for a good airing. Our feeling is, like that of the widowed parent just quoted, that if one is willing and able to see a child thru college, of which opportunity said child does not avail himself, one should feel a responsibility toward getting the young person's marriage off to a fair financial start. We have no arbitrary feeling on the subject, yet it does seem far more humane to help than to withhold and jeopardize a young marriage in consequence.

But, of course, if parents do subsidize young people, there are considerations to be entertained. The parents must not use the subsidy as a method of keeping the young people under control. The subsidy must be free from reasonable restrictions. It is not a common human trait to offer financial support and keep hands off the running of young people's lives. Young married people must learn from the start to make their own decisions and to take the consequence of their actions, whether fortunate or otherwise.

While not interfering with the running of the young couple's lives, the wise parents must know how, and when, to withdraw support and put the young pair on their own so that supporting them indefinitely will not become a problem. If they are using the subsidy to live beyond their means or to enjoy luxuries out of proportion to their position in life, the parents should ease up on their support.

SOX BEAT INDIANS TWICE; CUBS, REDS SPLIT

BIG PEBBLE WINS $33,100 WASHINGTON PARK HANDICAP

BUSHWHACKER 2D, HALTAL 3D, BEFORE 35,000

Victor's Margin Is Half Length.

Set Betting Mark

THE mutuel handle yesterday was the highest on record at Washington Park—$918,151. Last season's Labor day handle was $839,853. The Handicap itself drew $140,159. Yesterday's figure was surpassed twice during this season's Arlington Park meeting, the handle having been slightly over a million dollars on July 4, and approximately $981,000 on Classic day.

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Big Pebble carried on his quest for the national handicap championship with one of his best exhibitions of speed, gameness, and finishing power before a holiday crowd of 35,000 yesterday at Washington Park. The Circle M ranch's 5 year old bay horse, coming up from far back in a hard running field, charged right down the middle of the track to take command in the last 50 yards of the Washington Park handicap.

Jockey Jack Westrope drove Big Pebble over the line half a length in advance of R. W. McIlvain's Bushwhacker, while Royce G. Martin's Haltal was saving third place from Shot Put by a head. Howard Wells' Equifox was fifth, a length farther back in what was perhaps the best handicap field mustered in the country this season.

Local Horses Make Good.

It was a race which pitted the fastest horses from New York and California tracks against those of the Chicago area. Big Pebble and Haltal had the strongest claims to top honors at Saratoga and Hollywood while Equifox, Bushwhacker, and Shot Put were in there to uphold the prestige of the local tracks. And they did a mighty good job of it.

The betting took an unexpectedly partisan turn. Tho Big Pebble and Haltal had captured the fancy of most of the handicappers, the fans established the Walmac-Wells entry of Equifox and Bushwhacker as the 9 to 5 favorite while Big Pebble was at better than 2 to 1 and Haltal at 5 to 1. The winner paid off at $6.40, $3.40, and $2.80.

Winner Collects $25,500.

The handicap which carried a gross value of $33,100 was worth $25,500 net to the winner, swelling his earnings for the present season to $157,675.

Big Pebble who was bred in Kentucky by Edward R. Bradley, races in the colors of Edward S. Moore, former Chicagoan who now makes his headquarters at his Circle M ranch near Sheridan, Wyo. At the age of five, Big Pebble is attaining his first real success after being laid off most of the 1940 season. At Hialeah he won the $50,000 Widener handicap and split the two-division McLennan with Haltal. He captured the $75,000 Hollywood Gold Cup last month in California. Moving to Saratoga, he ran second twice to Fenelon and Haltal, respectively, while conceding considerable weight. Last Saturday Fenelon's bad showing in the Saratoga cup weakened any claims he might have to national honors—and yesterday Big Pebble got even with Haltal.

Leaders Closely Bunched.

Yesterday's race was a hard running, brilliantly contested struggle thruout the mile and a quarter. Haltal, Steel Heels, Tola Rose, and Idle Sun were closely bunched in the lead during the first half mile as the field swung around the clubhouse turn and swept thru the early stages of the run down the back stretch. Bushwhacker was going fairly close to the pace while Big Pebble, Equifox, and Shot Put were bringing up the rear.

As they went into the far turn, Westrope began improving his position with Big Pebble, but the field was so closely bunched ahead of him that he had to take his mount very wide. Shot Put and Equifox also started up, but they couldn't keep pace with the Circle M ranch star.

Every Jockey Drives Hard.

Haltal was still in front as they swept into the straightaway. The others were pounding after him and it was anybody's race. Steel Heels, Idle Sun, and Bushwhacker were in closest pursuit, but Big Pebble was moving swiftly on the extreme outside. Shot Put and Equifox were launching their stretch rushes—and every jockey in the race was driving hard.

Steel Heels was the first to crack. Haltal continued resolutely along the rail but Bushwhacker was getting to him gradually. Bushwhacker forged ahead as they neared midstretch. And then Big Pebble, too, went past Haltal with a rush. He took after Bushwhacker, got him 50 yards from the finish and was ready to draw clear at the line. He completed the mile and a quarter in 2:03 1-5.

CARDINALS BEAT PIRATES, 5-3, 6-3; LEAD BY ½ GAME

Brooklyn beat Boston, 6 to 5, in 15 innings yesterday and tied the second game, 2 to 2. Story on next page.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 1 (AP).—The St. Louis Cardinals ran their winning streak to seven and took a little firmer grip on first place in the National league by sweeping a pair from Pittsburgh today, 5 to 3, and 6 to 3.

A crowd of 34,812—largest since Aug. 13, 1939—jammed Sportsman's park to see the double victory and the great work of the Cardinals' rookie southpaws, Ernie White and Howard Pollet.

Each was shaky in the first inning, but settled down. White got his 17th victory against four defeats. Pollet, up from Houston of the Texas league less than two weeks, won his third triumph against one setback. White tripled to drive in a run, Pollet singled and sent two scores over the plate.

The Pirates used four singles, a wild throw, and an infield out to score twice in the first inning of the second game which was called on account of darkness after Pittsburgh batted in the eighth.

THE INDIANS PLAY DEAD TWICE FOR SOX, 7-5 AND 4-3

Lee Wins No. 18; Rigney Triumphs in 12th.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cleveland, O., Sept. 1.—Thornton Lee and Johnny Rigney, with an amazingly revived supporting cast, this afternoon pitched the White Sox to a double victory over the Cleveland Indians. Lee won his 18th of the season, 7 to 5, in the first encounter. Rigney grabbed his 12th triumph with a 12 inning performance which was brilliant after some triple trouble in the first inning. The score of the second game was 4 to 3.

The sweep gave the Sox a record of 10 straight over the Indians and 16 out of 21. The Chicago lead over the fourth place Clevelanders was increased to three games. The Sox remained a half game behind the Boston Red Sox, who also won two today.

In the first contest Lee wasn't as stingy as usual. The Indians hit in every inning except one, for a total of 13 safe ones.

Lee's Hit Decides Game.

However, Lee made up for his defensive generosity with his bat. He drove in the last two runs, the margin of victory, when he singled with the bases loaded in the eighth inning.

Luke Appling and Taft Wright, with a dozen hits between them in the two games, were essential batsmen but shared honors with Ben Chapman, Tom Turner, and several others who didn't have such high percentages.

The second game, in which Rigney fanned eight and got better as the game went on, was won over Al Milnar thuswise: Taft Wright, whose two earlier doubles had figured in the first two Chicago runs, got his second extra inning pass at the start of the 12th. Appling then made his fourth hit of the game, a single, and Dario Lodigiani's sacrifice advanced the runners. Steve Gromek replaced Milnar and gave Julius Solters an intentional pass, loading the bases. Turner, who had wasted a double at the start of the ninth and a single at the start of the 10th, then drove a long liner to Gee Walker and Wright scored.

FIRST GAME

All the threatening in the first three innings of the first game was developed by the Indians, but a circus catch by Chapman of Grimes' 420 foot drive with two on base in the first inning, tight pitching by Lee in the face of two hits in the second, and a leadoff single in the third kept the score at nothing all until the Sox got busy in the fourth. With one down in that inning Wright doubled to center and scored on Appling's double. Appling scored on Lodigiani's single.

The Sox made their third run in the sixth. Chapman was safe on Keltner's error, reached second on Wright's infield out and scored on Appling's single to right. Tresh doubled at the start of the seventh, took third while Lee was reaching first on Grimes' fumble and scored while Webb was grounding out.

Desautels opened the big home seventh with a single, and Bagby was credited with a hit when Lee was slow in covering first on a bouncer to Kuhel. Boudreau and Weatherly flied out, but Walker singled to center, Desautels scoring. Heath tripled to center, scoring Bagby and Walker, then Grimes struck out.

Sox Drive Bagby to Cover.

The Sox knocked out Bagby in their three-run eighth. Wright singled and stopped at second on Appling's third hit, a single to left. Lodigiani forced Wright on an attempted sacrifice, but Solters doubled to right, Appling scoring. Tresh was given an intentional pass, then Lee lined a single to right, Lodigiani and Solters scoring. Brown replaced Bag-

NEW YORK, Sept. 1.—Henry Armstrong doesn't believe in the old saying "they don't come back." . . . Hank's got the fight bug again and they say it's a bad case. . . . Southern golf writers are keen on the title chances of young Louise Suggs of Georgia. . . . Her dad is Johnny Suggs, a former pitcher of the Yankees. . . . The legal name of the fighter, Cocoa Kid, is Louis Hardwick, but he was born Luis Aroya in Puerto Aroya. . . . Alton Benton, Detroit pitcher, is the first player in modern major league history to sacrifice twice in one inning. . . . He did it on Aug. 6 against the Indians in an inning which produced 11 runs for the Tigers. . . . In other words, he wasn't at bat twice in the same session. . . . Norman Standlee, the Chicago Bears' full back, fresh from Stanford and the All-Star game, is color blind. . . . Jimmy Evert, Senn High school graduate who holds the national junior indoor singles tennis title and the outdoor doubles championship with Bob Smidl of River Forest, intends to enroll at Notre Dame this fall. . . . Smidl, a sophomore at Chicago, is the No. 1 Maroon player, so the erstwhile doubles pals can look forward to a real battle when Notre Dame and Chicago meet in the spring of 1943. . . . Babe Didrikson Zaharias has gone in for bowling in a big and successful way. . . . She averaged 192 for 12 games the other day.

Tuffy Leemans, who as a boy of 178 pounds was the sensation of the 1936 Chicago All-Star game, has grown to a man of 203 pounds . . . The best ball handler on the squad and as elusive as ever, Leemans is expected to play full back for the New York Giants tomorrow night against a team of eastern college alumni in the Herald Tribune's annual charity game at the Polo Grounds. . . . Cliff Heffelfinger, nephew of the famous Pudge, is a guard on the Ohio State eleven . . . You can take it or leave it, but Harvard's Dick Harlow, assistant professor of zoölogy for four years, is now a pteridologist. . . . Philadelphia's Phillies have won only one pennant and the only filly to win the Kentucky Derby was Regret. . . . Next to a bank, horse race tracks probably are the least healthy field of operation for counterfeiters. . . . Pari-mutuel clerks at California tracks are subjected to intensive training in spotting phony money.

A NEW WAKE BOOK.

Today my soldier called me on the phone
And asked me if I'd dine with him tonight,
And since I happened to be home alone
I took to his proposal with delight;
He brought me to a very swank hotel
And ordered everything upon the bill,
The service and the food were mighty swell
And you should see the way we ate our fill.

But when the waiter brought the check he rose
And whispered in my ear excitedly:
"I left my money in my other clothes
And if you'll pay this little bill for me
I'll send a check to you by the next mail,
You'll have it in the morning without fail." —T. E. B.

The Lowdown.

My sister studied stuff like this in school and she says Americans don't believe in taxation without representation. She says we told the British about that once. Now we pay taxes so the British can have materials and what have we got to say about it. She thinks the real reason F. D. R. met Churchill at sea was to ask him if we could have some votes of our own in the British parliament. She says the British know they have to listen, because they're afraid America will revolt or turn Republican or something. —My Sister and I.

Summer Requiem.

Vacation time is ended,
The days ahead are long;
No more the mountain wonders.
No more the ocean song,
And faded with the foliage,
The summer loves will die
Before a harvest moonbeam
Flirts with an autumn sky.
And when the leaves start crinkling,
Or cracking 'neath my feet,
And not a speck of green remains
On any city street,
I'll build a huge bonfire,
Right near my favorite oak,
And all my summer memories
Will go up into smoke.

Happiness.

Of all the words we hear about and Cheer about, there's one
That tops them all, that stops them all
"Tis "happiness," when won.
The quest of life, the best of life,
The goal of every man!
He strives for it, he dies for it,
He conquers, if he can!

Without it, dear, a life is drear,
No meaning does it hold
Tho health is his, tho wealth is his,
It can't be had for gold.
To me it seems by day, by dreams
The secret I have found
This happiness is YOU I guess,
It's YOU by touch, by sound.

At moments then, the worst of men
May sense its presence nigh.
They hope for it, and grope for it,
It leaves them with a sigh.
So now I pray, to you I say
If I should fail to grasp
The scope of it and cope with it
Just hold me in your clasp!
—VEE-KAY.

NORTH SIDERS WIN 2D, 5 TO 4; LOSE FIRST, 2-1

Triple in Tenth Brings Victory.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The Cubs, tired of being kicked around by the Reds, put on a revolt late yesterday afternoon and thereby salvaged one decision from their holiday toil with the faded world champions. After Paul Derringer had whipped them 2 to 1 in the first game, the Cubs proceeded toward a beating at the hands of Johnny Vander Meer, the noted lefty. Vander-Meer didn't see it thru, however, for the Cubs knocked him out with two tying runs in the ninth and followed with a 10th inning surge which fastened down a 5 to 4 success.

The honor of getting in on both the belated rushes by which the Cubs headed off the champions in the second struggle went to Phil Cavarretta. By coaxing a pass from Vander Meer who had already fanned eleven, Cavarretta launched the tying ninth, an inning that didn't close until the famed double no-hit pitcher had gone his way and Babe Dahlgren had doubled off Rescuer Joe Beggs. Then in the 10th Stan Hack singled and sprinted around to the plate with the tie shattering run when Cavarretta hit the left field ivy with a three bagger.

Reds Enjoy a Big Fourth.

There wasn't much wrong with the Cubs' pitching in either game. Jake Mooty drew the assignment against Derringer and surrendered only six hits, but half of them were clustered in the fourth inning when the champions did all their scoring. As for hits, Vallie Eaves, who started the second game, was an improvement over Mooty. He yielded only three in six innings, but after getting into a tie blew up in the seventh, the Reds scoring the runs that appeared ample until the ninth. Meanwhile Tot Pressnell had taken over Eaves' job, thereby registering a victory on two innings of work.

FIRST GAME

The fourth inning which produced all that Derringer needed in the first game, opened with Mike McCormick popping high over deep short. Between the sun and the wind Sturgeon couldn't figure how to proceed so the ball landed for a single after which Frey furnished the customary sacrifice. Frank McCormick belted a single into center and his namesake registered. Frank went down to second while Hack was throwing out Werber and traveled the remainder of the journey on Lombardi's single, also a poke into center.

The Cubs began to get away from the shutout threat in the sixth when F. McCormick dropped Werber's toss of Dahlgren's bounder. Dahlgren hiked to third off Dallessandro's single to right center and sneaked across the plate while the Reds were busy forcing Dallessandro on Gilbert's roller.

SECOND GAME

Eaves got into trouble in the first inning by hitting Koy. Frey slashed a single into center, going to second on Barney Olsen's throw which didn't interfere with Koy's safe arrival at third. F. McCormick was purposely passed, loading the bases, a situation which Werber relieved by looping a single into left, Koy and Frey counting. In the Cubs' second Scheffing, Dallessandro and Stringer singled with none out, but even with this flying start only one scored.

Four hits were expended by the

165 PLAY TODAY IN 18 HOLE TRIAL OF $11,000 OPEN

Seek Last 77 Places for 1st Round on Thursday.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.

The final rehearsal of the richest golf show in the world for this season of 1941—the $11,000 Tam o' Shanter Open—will be held today, when a field of 165 players from every section of the country gather at the Tam o' Shanter Country club in an 18 hole medal play battle for the last 77 places in the tournament proper. This will open Thursday with a regiment of 175 of the country's leading professional and amateur swingers, continuing at 18 holes a day thru Sunday.

The other 98 entrants in the field who will tee off Thursday have been exempt from today's qualifying round because of their outstanding records this season or because of past performances in other campaigns. Yet this party that will argue for the remaining rôles today constitutes a tournament in itself. They will tee off at 8 a. m. in threesomes, going out at six minute intervals until 2 p. m.

Sweet and Doering Play.

One of the best of the early threesomes will be that composed of Art Sweet of the home club, surprise of the Great Lakes amateur, who will be paired with Professionals Jerry Cooke of Edgewater and Dave Tosh of Sunset Ridge at 9:36. Gib Sellers, the former Arkansan who is now stationed in Detroit, will set forth with Harold Foreman Jr. of Lake Shore and Mike Sipula, Ottawa, Ill., pro, at 11:18, and Art Doering of Medinah, who lost a tough 20 hole match in the National Amateur at Omaha last week, gets away at 11:42 with Herman Scharlau of Bloomington and Frank Metzger of Cleveland.

Another outstanding trio, beginning at 12:12, includes Walter Burkemo, Evanston's brilliant young amateur; Bill Mehlhorn of the Foster Golf Range, and Rod Munday of Toledo, O. Tommy Sheehan of Detroit, former Notre Dame captain who holds the all-time qualifying record for the National Amateur, starts at 12:30 with Herb Johnson of Butterfield and Jim Milward of Madison, Wis. Other leading seekers after places in the main event are Al Huske of De Kalb, Tommy Wright of Longwood, John Barnum of Elmhurst, Chuck Kocsis of Detroit, Clarence Yockey of Topeka, Kas.; Mike Bencriscutto of Racine, Wis.; Alvin [Butch] Krueger of Beloit, Wis.; Eddie Loos of Lake Shore, Frank Stranahan of Toledo, O., the new Trans-Mississippi champion and runner-up for the Great Lakes title, and Skee Riegel of Glendale, Cal.

$2,000 First Place.

The 77 survivors of today's 18 holes will join up with an assemblage that ranks as the field of the year. The professionals in same will be fighting for three prizes in the four figure bracket—$2,000 for first place, $1,400 for second, and $1,000 for third. The amateurs will play for an attractive assortment of prizes.

In the field of exemptions who won't get down to actual work until Thursday, but who will arrive in large numbers today and tomorrow, are National Open Champion Craig Wood of Mamaroneck, N. Y.; National Professional Champion Vic Ghezzi of Deal, N. J.; Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., winner of the recent Chicago Open, who is also the year's leading money winner and who tuned up Sunday by winning the Hershey Open with a 17 under par record; Lloyd Mangrum of Monterey, Cal.; Byron Nelson of Toledo, O., former National Open champion; Tony Penna of Dayton, O.; Jimmy Demaret of Noroton, Conn., hero of the 1940 winter campaign; Gene Sarazen of Brookfield Centre, Conn.; Horton Smith of Pinehurst, N. C., and Lawson Little of San Francisco, Cal., 1940 Open title holder.

PONTY IS VICTOR BEFORE 39,968 AT AQUEDUCT

New York, Sept. 1 (AP).—Mrs. F. Scully's 3 year old colt Ponty, whose chief claim to fame developed last winter when he finished in front of Whirlaway in a race at Tropical Park, today jumped into the spotlight by winning the 32d Aqueduct handicap before a record crowd of 39,968 sweltering fans. The lightly weighed son of Pilate, under 105 pounds, led home William Woodward's topweighted 5 year old Foxbrough, sixth straight beaten favorite of the afternoon, by two lengths.

Third money in the field of six went to Louis Tufano's slow starting Market Wise, which was followed by Parasang, Royal Man, and Third Covey.

ELSON, BARBER TO BROADCAST WORLD SERIES

It's Exclusive Over W-G-N and Mutual.

Bob Elson of W-G-N and Red Barber of station WOR, New York, two of the nation's best known play-by-play baseball announcers, have been selected for the third consecutive year to describe the world series exclusively on W-G-N and the Mutual network. The announcement was made yesterday by J. P. Spang Jr., president of the Gillette Safety Razor company, which again will sponsor the broadcasts.

The choice of Elson and Barber has been approved by Commissioner K. M. Landis.

300 Stations—A Record.

Nearly 300 stations—a record number—will carry the world series broadcasts this fall. Last year the total was 285. The games also will be sent by shortwave around the world. Special provisions will be made for the broadcasts to be carried to South America in Spanish for the first time.

Landis will announce the series schedule tomorrow. The first two games will be played in Yankee stadium, New York. With Brooklyn and St. Louis waging a close battle for the National league title, the second world series park may not be known for weeks.

Broadcasts Since 1929.

The 1941 world series will be the 13th for Elson. This is a record unequaled by any other announcer, and one that is not likely to be equaled soon inasmuch as Gillette and Mutual have exclusive rights for this season and have taken an option on the series for next year.

Elson has been reporting Cubs and Sox games on W-G-N since 1929. He also is heard regularly at football games, hockey and boxing matches, and conducts a nightly sports review which is one of W-G-N's most popular programs.

ATHLETICS BEAT YANKS, 5-1, AFTER LOSING, 13 TO 11

New York Slams 19 Hits in First Game.

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 1 (AP).—The New York Yankees moved to within three victories of clinching the American league pennant today by outslugging the Athletics, 13 to 11, in the first game of their double header, but were stalled by Bill Bechman's pitching in the second game, 5 to 1.

Home runs among 19 hits enabled the Yanks to come from behind in the first game. Charley Keller hit his 33d of the season, Joe Gordon, his 22d and George Selkirk his fifth.

SHREW SCORES IN FREE-FOR-ALL SAILING RACE

William Coveney sailed Shrew, Herbert Hanaan's Chicago Yacht club Star boat, to victory yesterday over the largest fleet seen off Wilmette harbor this season. Forty-seven Star, Snipe, 110, Arrow, and other one design class sailers competed in the free for all. Shrew covered the seven mile course in 1 hour 58 minutes and 49 seconds.

Dry Sue, leading Snipe class sloop of the Chicago Corinthian Yacht club's fleet at Montrose harbor, won both races sailed yesterday. The lady skippers' race, over the three mile course, was sailed by Mrs. Ken Schmid, wife of Dry Sue's owner, in 32 minutes and 45 seconds. In the regular point scoring race, Mr. and Mrs. Schmid defeated the 10 other Snipes by finishing in 29:10.

by and fanned Webb. Kuhel flied out.

With one out in the eighth Mack was safe on Lodigiani's error and Desautels walked. After Pinchman Bell failed, Boudreau singled to left, scoring Mack. Weatherly walked, loading the bases, then Walker forced Boudreau.

Grimes walked with one out in the nine ninth and Keltner was hit by a pitched ball, whereupon Mack singled to center, scoring Grimes and putting Keltner on third. But that was all.

SECOND GAME

The Sox made a run in the first inning of the second game on a single by Chapman and a double by Wright. The Indians made two runs in their half on Boudreau's single and successive triples by Heath and Keltner. The Clevelanders scored again in the second without a hit or without getting the ball out of the infield. Fumbles by Lodigiani and Webb were factors.

Wright opened the sixth with his third hit of the game and second double and stopped at third on Appling's infield single. Lodigiani tapped into a double play, Wright scoring. Solters singled to right but Turner rolled to Boudreau.

Chapman opened the eighth with a single. After Wright lined to Weatherly, Appling's grounder went between Boudreau's heels into center, Chapman reaching third and Appling first. Lodigiani lined to Walker, Chapman scoring the tying run.

ST. ANDREW'S NINE CAPTURES CYO TITLE, 10-6

St. Andrew's baseball team, Catholic Youth organization champion in 1939, came from behind to defeat Annunciation yesterday, 10 to 6, in Shewbridge field and win the season title. John Bush, St. Andrew's starting pitcher, was pounded from the mound in the early innings after giving up seven hits and four runs.

St. Andrew's kept pecking away at the offerings of George Rueh, Annunciation's star left hander, until it had tied the score in the fifth inning. The eventual winners drove across five runs in the sixth and another in the seventh.

RAY BROWN BACK FOR CYO'S BOUTS AGAINST HAWAII

May Fight in 126 Pound Class Sept. 17.

BY FRANK MASTRO.

Ray Brown, who is as fast as a rodeo steer on the loose and packs a knockout wallop in either hand, will be among the Catholic Youth organization boxers who will resume training in CYO center this afternoon for a series of bouts with Hawaii's best amateur boxers in Soldiers' field Sept. 17.

Altho the 18 year old Brown has not yet been named for one of the 10 places on the intersectional team, his selection seems a foregone conclusion, especially since he contributed one of the victories in last summer's match with Hawaii, an accomplishment which aided the Chicago delegation in beating the invaders, 8 to 3.

Brown will leave with 59 other candidates Saturday for Palos Park, where the group will battle for the coveted posts—one each in the flyweight, featherweight, welterweight, middleweight, light heavyweight, and heavyweight classes, and two in the bantamweight and lightweight divisions. The boys will spar daily until the day before the big show. Those showing to best advantage will be chosen.

Brown May Move Up.

Among Brown's challengers for the bantamweight position are Bertrand White, Henry Vera, Don Gallardio, Salvador Melendez, Fred Dawson, Henry Nichols, Pat Ciangi, and Mike Friar. Because Ray defeated Henry Oshiro in last year's match one of his rivals may be given the assignment against the Hawaiian 118 pounder this time. In that case Brown likely will be elevated to the next weight class to oppose Charles Sanico, featherweight, who is one of four newcomers on the island's contingent.

Oshiro's style now is known to Head Coach Paddy Kane and his assistants, Dick Fitzpatrick and Lew Radzienda, and for that reason they have an idea Vera, Gallardio, Ciangi, or one of the other bantamweight contenders might do as well against Oshiro as did Brown previously.

Leaves to Greet Invaders.

Brown has proved his ability in both the bantamweight and featherweight ranks in the last year. He stopped Tony Bausone, brother of Frank, in one round on Jan. 29 to win the Illinois Athletic club featherweight championship. He then won the city Golden Gloves bantamweight title, but lost to Richard Menchaca of Fort Worth, Tex., for the Chicago-land Golden Gloves medal in the Stadium. However, Ray regained lost prestige by conquering Johnny Aiello, New York 118 pounder, in the annual intercity event March 26. The victory helped Chicago win, 10 to 6.

Thomas O'Connell, head of the CYO boxing department, left by plane yesterday morning for San Francisco, where he will greet the Hawaiians' team on their arrival from Honolulu tomorrow. The group, which will arrive Sept. 9, will be accompanied by the Rev. Hubert Winthagen, spiritual director; Gordon Thomas, team manager; Jackie Wright, coach, and Trainer William Freitas, former featherweight champion of the islands.

Revenge Wins Noble Trophy; Near Record

Revenge, 58 foot racing cutter owned by Blair Walliser and Ken Griffin, recaptured the Commodore Noble trophy yesterday by leading a fleet of 58 sail yachts across Lake Michigan from Michigan City, Ind., to Chicago. The race, last leg of the annual tri-state series of contests which began last Friday night, was sponsored by the Jackson Park Yacht club.

The yachts started from Michigan City at 10 a. m. yesterday, favored by a steady northeast wind. In winning the 35 mile race, Revenge came within 15 minutes of breaking the all time record for the Michigan City-Chicago course, set by the schooner Bagheera in 1932. Revenge's elapsed time yesterday was 3:45:18. It won the award in 1938 and 1939.

Southern Cross 2d.

Southern Cross, owned and sailed by Commodore Robert P. Benedict, who made the record in '32 when he owned Bagheera, was second to finish yesterday in 3:49:04.

Jackson Park Yacht club craft won in three of the four cruising classes, and Chicago Yacht club sloops won in the Universal division. Chinook, Luther Tatge's 35 foot cruising ketch, defeated the entire cruising division on corrected time. Chinook won the cruising time prize as well as first in D class. It was sailed by Skipper Tatge, Frank Reed, John McGinnis, Clark Kessler, Carl Kielhege, and Harry Bruke. Universal division time prize honors went to Romany, Walter Heinemann's S class racer flying the Chicago Yacht club burgee.

Moore Retires After 25 Years.

William Moore, who inaugurated the Noble Trophy races in 1932, was head of the race committee for the last time yesterday. He is retiring at the end of this season after 25 years' service for the Jackson Park Yacht club. Summaries of first three boats in each class:

Mallouf's Fine Passes Please Jim Conzelman

Half Back Ray Mallouf, Center Ray Apolskis and Guards Joe Lokanc and Nick Kerasiotis, all members of the College All-Star football team which met the Chicago Bears in Soldiers' field last Thursday night, have been signed by the Chicago Cardinals and yesterday worked out with the squad on the Morgan Park Military Academy field.

Head Coach Jimmy Conzelman and assistants Phil Handler and Chilly Walsh ran a squad of 44 players thru two hour sessions in the morning and afternoon. Yesterday's practice marked the start of the third week of activity out Morgan Park way. Conzelman was particularly elated with the showing made by Mallouf, Southern Methodist university's great back, who flipped the ball around the field with the accuracy of a Teddy Lyons and the speed of a Bobby Feller. Conzelman said:

"Benny Friedman was one of the greatest passers in the game and Mallouf compares favorably with him—in my book. He's one of the greatest passers I've ever seen and I've been around for quite a while and seen lots of guys who could chuck that leather. He's going to help us a lot."

With the addition of the former College All-Stars the squad seemed to take on new life. Apolskis, Marquette university's great pivot man; Lokanc, Northwestern guard, and Kerasiotis, St. Ambrose guard, moved into the line seemingly confident that from now on there wasn't any question as to who would be first string guards and center. All three are 5 feet 11 inches in height and each weighs between 195 and 205.

NEWS OF FINANCE AND COMMERCE

REFINERS REAP BONANZA THRU GAS 'SHORTAGE'

Prices, Sales, Profits Sharply Higher.

Shutdown Feared

Philadelphia, Pa., Sept. 1 (AP).—The possibility that nearly all of the 100,000 eastern seaboard gasoline stations will close as a result of the reported oil shortage unless the government assures dealers a "living margin" was seen tonight by Benjamin L. Jacoby, president of the Associated Gasoline Retailers of Philadelphia.

Jacoby said the shutdown would be discussed at an eastern states conference of gasoline retailers here tomorrow and Wednesday. He blamed the situation on the government's gasoline quota regulations, effective today, which fix dealers' quotas for September at 15 per cent under their July sales.

Declaring that "dealers are going to protest to President Roosevelt himself if necessary," Jacoby also challenged the existence of an oil shortage.

New York, Sept. 1 [Special].—The most startling result to date of the much publicized eastern gasoline "shortage" has been a sharp increase in profits for the major oil companies.

In the last two months, despite the fact that motorists are being urged to use one-third less fuel as an aid to national preparedness — prices, sales, and profits have soared to a point where the 20 largest producers are reaping a bonanza of gold.

An added benefit, altho this will not be effective for some time, lies in the approved construction of at least 800 million dollars' worth of pipe lines from the oil fields to eastern refineries. The pipe lines, being built with the government's blessing, are intended to ease the transporation problem created by the transfer of 50 oil tankers to the British supply service.

Stream of Profit to Mount.

When the pipe lines begin operation they will pour a new stream of profits into oil company coffers as they pour oil into the eastern seaboard, and release the producers from depending on rail and sea transport—at a higher cost.

Altho the industry's profit figures for July and August are not yet available, 12 major companies showed a total 10 million dollar increase in earnings for that period. It is conceded also by gasoline executives that sales climbed even higher this summer than they did during the first six months of 1941, when 308,834,000 barrels were consumed as compared with 278,622,000 for the corresponding period in 1940.

A comparison of refinery tank car prices shows that the increased consumption raised prices as follows: May, 5.8 cents a gallon; June, 6.49 cents; July, 6.58 cents, and August, 6.7 cents.

Presents Sharp Contrast.

This situation contrasts sharply with that in December, 1940, when refinery prices were heading for a January low of 5 cents a gallon.

Toward the end of 1940 Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes, now petroleum administrator, was asked to question the oil industry on its ability to release 50 American tankers to the British in addition to 43 tankers of foreign registry previously released to assist Anglo-American plans.

The oil companies answered that loss of the vessels would mean a transport shortage and necessitate immediate building of pipe lines. They requested administration aid in obtaining rights of way and quieting opposition of marine unions to the unemployment threat.

Legislation Passed Speedily.

The help came fast and the legislation was speedily put thru.

As enacted the bill provides for a network of pipe lines at least 4,450 miles long, of which the largest unit is an 80 million dollar venture in which 11 companies will finance a line from Texas to Philadelphia and New York.

The big companies raised refinery prices an estimated $32,386,271 in June alone—long before any shortage materialized.

★SMALL BUSINESS★ MAN'S DEPARTMENT

This department is prepared to help the small business man who is seeking information on priorities, substitute materials, and related subjects. Inquiries should be directed to the Small Business Man's department, Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Ill. All inquiries will be given careful attention. Letters on subjects of broad interest will be published and commented upon.

Hoarding in anticipation of government restrictions does not appear to have been a major factor in the current scarcity of materials needed urgently by small manufacturers. This is indicated by inquiries made by this department.

The department had received reports that some companies, especially the large ones with abundant funds, had accumulated large stocks of vital raw materials which they were saving against the rainy day of priorities and allocation regulations.

Altho there are companies which probably have acquired larger stocks than they normally would require, few if any companies, have been reported with excessive inventories of raw materials.

Federal Survey Under Way.

A survey of stocks and consumption of nonferrous metals is being made by the bureau of census for the Office of Production Management. A stricter check on inventories may be undertaken by OPM investigators, officials have indicated, if there is any decided trend toward overstocking of materials.

The August survey of Current Business issued by the commerce department reports that there had not been an excessive accumulation of supplies by corporations. The survey asserted that the increase in inventories by manufacturing industries to a record peak of 13.7 billion dollars at the end of June, a gain of 1.1 billions in the first half this year, was caused largely by the sharp increase in production accompanying the armament program.

Rise Believed Normal.

"Further evidence has been gathered to suggest that the bulk of the inventory accumulation by manufacturers has been for the most part a normal accompaniment of a rapidly expanding level of production," the commerce department report said. "Tho manufacturers' inventories are highest in history, both in dollar value and physical volume, for manufacturing as a whole, the ratio between total physical stocks and production is lower today than at any other time in the last several years."

The survey showed that of the three categories of manufacturers' inventories—goods in process, raw materials, and finished goods—goods in process expanded at the fastest rate. This was taken as evidence that the increasing stock of manufacturers' inventories resulted from accelerated production.

Little Speculation Indicated.

"Thus, the form which the increased inventories have taken suggests that accumulation for speculative purposes has been of secondary importance," the review said. "Such a conclusion is substantiated further by examination of the industries most actively engaged in expanding stocks. About two-thirds of the increase is held by producers of durable goods. Moreover, by far the largest accumulation has been in industries expanding output very markedly for defense needs: iron and steel, machinery, nonferrous metals, and railroad equipment. As might be expected, finished goods inventory held by these manufacturers has declined to a necessary minimum."

Inventories of manufacturers, wholesalers and retailers at the end of June were valued at 21.9 billion dollars, up 1.1 billion dollars for the first six months. There was a gain of 1.2 billion in the first half of 1940.

Wholesalers' Inventories Up.

Wholesalers' inventories expanded 400 million dollars to a total of 3.2 billion, with most of the rise contributed by food and produce dealers. Hardware dealers increased their holdings at more than average rate.

In contrast with these trends, retailers cut their inventories 400 million dollars to a total of 5 billion dollars. The slump in automobile stocks from 450,000 units at the end of December to 300,000 units at the end of June was partly balanced by larger store stocks.

The Federal Reserve board's adjusted index of department store stocks stood at 77 per cent of the normal base 1923-'25, which was 8 per cent above December [on a value basis] and one point below the 1937 peak.

DOWN.

Is down, used in making pillows, on the priorities critical list?

Answer: Yes. It is subject to allocation control by the priorities division of the Office of Production Management. The list of 300 or more critical items and classes of items on which priorities can be assigned may be obtained by writing to the Small Business Man's department.

ZINC POOL.

What are the requirements for the zinc pool for September?

Answer: The priorities division of the Office of Production Management has ordered that producers allocate to the zinc pool for September amounts equal to 27 per cent of their metallic zinc output and 10 per cent of their zinc oxide output in July.

Form Federal Section to Aid Little Business

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 1.—Creation of a small business section in the anti-trust division of the justice department was announced tonight by Assistant Attorney General Thurman Arnold.

In a letter to Senator James E. Murray [D., Mont.], chairman of the special senate committee on problems of small business enterprises, Arnold said that the new section will be devoted to assisting small business enterprises in their relations with the government, including problems arising from the rearmament program and particularly remedies that may be found thru enforcement of the anti-trust laws.

Arnold said that Guy Holcomb of Atlanta, Ga., operator of a chain of gasoline stations, will head the section.

"The section's structure will embrace eminent economists and a staff of experts on small business problems, as well as investigative personnel," Arnold said. "We intend to place the full facilities of the section and of the anti-trust division at the disposal of all small business men and any groups representing them."

Virtually the entire revenue of this company is derived from gold, with silver accounting for a smaller share. Metals are recovered by dredging deposits in the Bulolo river valley of New Guinea. Dredging equipment is operated by two hydro-electric plants, and supplies and equipment are transported by company airplanes.

Last year there were 1,000,000 shares of capital stock outstanding. Stock is listed on the Montreal Stock exchange. Dividends of $3 a year have been paid since 1936, and a $1.50 semi-annual payment was made in June this year.

Clarify Bonus Funds in Fixing Overtime Pay

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Sept. 1.—The position of the wage and hour division of the labor department on the payment of bonuses and how they affect overtime payments was restated tonight by Philip B. Fleming, wage-hour administrator.

"Some employers have written us that they were hesitating about giving their employés bonuses from their currently enlarged earnings," Fleming said. "So we are issuing this statement to dispel doubts.

Two General Categories.

"There are two general categories in which bonus plans fall:

"A. In bonus plans of the first category, the payment and the amount of the bonus are solely in the discretion of the employer. The sum, if any, is determined by him. The employé has no contract rights, expressed or implied, to any amount. This type of bonus is illustrated by the employer who pays his employés a share of the profits of his business or a lump sum at Christmas without having previously promised, agreed, or arranged to pay such bonus.

"Bonus payments of this type will not be considered a part of the regular rate at which an employé is employed, and need not be included in computing his regular hourly rate of pay and overtime compensation.

Arranged in Advance.

"B. In bonus plans of the second category the employer promises, agrees, or arranges to pay a bonus. The amount may be fixed or may be ascertainable by the application of a formula. An example of this type of plan is a production bonus based on the excess over a minimum quota which the individual, the group, or the plant, produces in a period of time.

"Bonus payments of this type will be considered a part of the regular rate at which an employé is employed, and must be included in computing his regular hourly rate of pay and overtime compensation."

Drastic Curbs Reported for 40 Industries

New York, Sept. 1 [Special].—The Office of Production Management is "reliably understood" to have prepared secretly a list of more than 40 industries, embracing thousands of companies, which face drastic retrenchment or complete closure as a result of "raw material starvation" under the preparedness program, Leo M. Cherne, executive secretary of Research Institute of America, Inc., declared today.

Addressing the institute's 100 district managers at a meeting here, Cherne, an authoritative writer on business topics, asserted that, because of "the tremendous call on national resources" made by modern warfare, "the last nine years of the New Deal fade into insignificance as against the impact of the defense program on business."

"Starvation" under the priorities system will "make priorities unemployment almost as dramatic before the end of this year as the breadlines of 1933," Cherne declared.

The national preparedness program eventually will require one quarter of the working time of the entire employed population of the nation, and an equal percentage of the national income, he estimated.

Call Meeting to Save Jobs.

Evansville, Ind., Sept. 1 (AP).—Mayor William H. Dress, head of an Evansville committee representing labor, management and preparedness activities, today invited mayors of 600 midwestern cities to attend a conference at Chicago Sept. 12, called to consider action to save jobs of workers in industries which cannot be converted immediately to armament work.

U. S. SUGAR NET EARNINGS RISE; PLAN EXPANSION

Year's Profit Equal to 67c a Share.

Increased earnings for the fiscal year ended June 30 were announced yesterday by United States Sugar corporation, along with an expansion and diversification program that will require capital expenditure of more than 2½ million dollars.

Clarence R. Bitting.

Profit of the company, which operates sugar cane plantations in the Florida everglades and a raw sugar plant at Clewiston, Fla., rose to $1,050,805, equal to 67 cents a share on the common stock, from $846,680, or 54 cents a share, in the preceding fiscal year.

Clarence R. Bitting, president, said that the expansion of plants and other facilities was decided upon in connection with research studies and experiments designed to develop crops new to the everglades and to diversify the corporation's products.

Develops New Product.

Bitting mentioned lemon grass culture as one of the diversification projects. Oil from lemon grass is used in perfume and cosmetics, and formerly was available from foreign sources only, according to Bitting. He said the company now has 800 acres of the grass and a distillation and dehydrating plant with an annual capacity of 150,000 pounds of lemon grass oil and 10,000 tons of cattle feed.

The dry grass remaining after the oil is removed is combined with blackstrap molasses to produce the cattle feed.

One of the new plants will be a small one for extraction of peanut oil and vegetable oils. Another will be a factory to produce starch from sweet potatoes. It will have a daily capacity of 100 tons. Bitting said that experiments at Laurel, Miss., conducted by the company and the department of agriculture, had demonstrated the commercial feasibility of extracting starch from sweet potatoes.

Northwest Airlines Gains.

Northwest Airlines, Inc., issued its annual report, showing for the year ended June 30 an increase in net income to $327,495, equal to $1.39 a common share, compared with $296,407, or $1.27 a share, in the preceding year.

Croil Hunter, president, told stockholders that the line's passenger revenue increased 32.6 per cent for the year, and that the number of pound miles of mail flown increased 28 per cent. The air line's main office is in St. Paul, Minn.

Vick Chemical company, maker of medicinal preparations, reported for the year ended June 30 net income of $2,804,026, equal to $4.12 a common share, compared with $2,792,165, or $4.05 a share, in the preceding fiscal year.

Thousands Hear Wheeler Warn That Labor Will Lose if U. S. Gets in War—Green and Brooks Speak

Section of the crowd of between 20,000 and 30,000 persons who heard Senator Burton K. Wheeler charge last night that American faith in democracy is being poisoned by broken promises. The Montana senator spoke to the largest crowd that ever has gathered for the St. Charles fall festival in the 37 years of its history. The size of Senator Wheeler's audience compares with the crowd of fewer than a thousand who heard Senator A. B. Chandler of Kentucky there on Sunday.
